'OH, WE ARE THE ENGINEERS...'

Harmonious session of B.C. Association of Professional Engineers' convention in Empress Hotel was forecast today by four leading figures in association who rehearsed barbershop songs ready for competition this evening for the "Kilam Kwartet Kontest Kup." Trophy (centre), a king-sized grease cup, is awarded each year to best close harmony quartet among the engineers.

1-YEAR DRIVING LICENCE TO RETURN NEXT YEAR?

B.C. government will revert to one-year drivers' licences if the current five-year plan does not prove its workability by the end of this year.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today: "If it doesn't work, obviously it will be changed." He said the easiest way of changing it would be to go back to one-year drivers' licences.

Mr. Bonner said the rate of licence renewals is on the increase but there are still thousands of motorists on the road without a valid licence.

Somass Hydro Plan To Be Aired Monday

Details of a proposed large hydro-electric development for the Somass River watershed will be disclosed to Alberni Valley residents Monday by a B.C. Power Commission official.

The commission's planning has reached the stage where it will move engineering crews into the area shortly to make the expensive detailed surveys which are required before the final decision can be made on constructing the project.

Preliminary studies have been completed.

The Power Commission's intention to utilize the resources of the watershed covered by the Sproat Lake, Great Central and Elsie lakes system, including the Stamp and Sproat Rivers, was disclosed in an exclusive Times' story Thursday.

Several other power sites on the island are also under continued study by the B.C. Power Commission. But the Somass watershed proposal is in the most advanced stages.

"We are looking at all the economical power we can get for the island," said a spokesman.

This includes power from the Homathko River and tributaries on the mainland.

However, it is considered highly unlikely mainland power will provide the immediate requirements of the rapidly expanding Vancouver Island economy.

The commission's load growth on the island is being gobbled up by new industries, and population increase, at a rate which threatens to outstrip its new developments.

The multi-million-dollar Upper Campbell River project, and the Ladore Falls development, both underway, will not meet the demand.

Upper Campbell will be completed by about 1958, and power from its generators will be utilized virtually as soon as the generators turn over.

LOAD GROWTH UP

The load growth is accelerated by announcements of major expansion programs announced by Island pulp mills—a major user of hydro electricity.

MacMillan & Bloedel, Crown Zellerbach and B.C. Forest Products in recent months have announced multi-million-dollar pulp mill plans.

Even steam plants are considered a possibility to feed the industrial growth of the Island.

A commission spokesman was asked whether steam plants are being considered.

"All sources of power are being considered," he said.

Only a few power sites remain to be exploited on the island. Most are on the northern end, where long transmission hauls could make them unsound from an economic viewpoint.

Other rivers pose a serious salmon problem.

MacMillan and Bloedel is reported to be considering construction of a weir dam on Sproat Lake. A meeting of Sproat Lake ratepayers is scheduled to be held tonight to hear the company proposal.

The firm would use the dam to maintain water levels in Sproat Lake for pulp mill operations.

It would not raise the lake level, but would prevent a maximum discharge.

Power commission officials said the proposed dam would not appreciably interfere with their proposal on Sproat Lake.

They said an old dam already exists at the site.

$75 Million Construction For BCE in '56

Huge Program Given in Detail

A record-smashing construction budget of $75,000,000 in 1956 was announced by president Dal Grauer of the B.C. Electric today.

"British Columbia, which has grown faster than any other province in Canada for the past decade, stands on the threshold of even greater expansion in the years immediately ahead," the BCE president said.

The company is backing this forecast, said Mr. Grauer, with a capital program almost twice as large as the one now nearing completion, by far the largest for any single year in BCE history.

Here are the details of the BCE construction program for 1956:

Generation of electricity, $15,900,000; construction and enlargement of substations, Mainland, $10,500,000; transmission plant, including land, Mainland, $10,900,000; distribution and other electrical plant, Mainland, $4,600,000; Vancouver Island interconnection, $5,100,000; generation, transmission, substations and distribution, Vancouver Island, $1,800,000; electric line and service extensions, Mainland and Vancouver Island, $9,400,000; urban transportation, Greater Vancouver, New Westminster and Greater Victoria, $500,000; railway system, $1,800,000; new office building, Vancouver, $4,400,000; other joint service facilities, $1,100,000; Greater Vancouver natural gas program, $9,000,000; total, $75,000,000.

When Sir Edmund Hillary leaves on the first leg of his Antarctic trip from Vancouver Saturday night, he will take with him the Cowichan Indian sweater presented to him by The Victoria Daily Times on the evening of his memorable lecture here, March 8, 1954.

In a cheery telephone interview this morning from Hotel Vancouver, where he is staying, Sir Edmund said: "By all means, I'll have that sweater! It will be very useful to me down there."

Sir Edmund asked The Times to convey his greetings to all his friends in Victoria, adding:

"That was a wonderful meeting we had there. You people were great hosts."

LOWE GOING ALONG

George Lowe, the New Zealand school teacher who appeared in Victoria with Sir Edmund, will join him in South America for the Antarctic expedition.

A year after his return to New Zealand from Victoria, Sir Edmund was presented with his first child. Both mother and baby were "wonderfully well," Sir Edmund said.

Asked about his reported serious illness on his last Himalayan expedition, Sir Edmund chuckled:

"Yes, I was down a bit, but after a week or two I was as good as gold."

Sir Edmund flies to Lima, Peru, via CP Airlines Saturday night, and proceeds thence to Montevideo to join other members of the south polar expedition.

"We shall be sailing on a Canadian sealer, the Theron," Sir Edmund said.

Tonight in Vancouver he will be entertained by the Canadian Alpine Club but, he said, "things were really quite quiet... the ballyhoo is dying down."

TENZING ACTIVE

He said that life was still very active for his friend Sherpa Tenzing, who has hired two English-speaking secretaries to answer his fan mail. Tenzing writes to him frequently and Hillary had heard from him just two weeks ago.

Sir Edmund said that he had not read Tenzing's book (written by James Ramsay Ullman) called "Man of Everest." It is in this book that Tenzing reveals that Sir Edmund was the first man to stand on top of Everest.

S-D Campaign Cuts Mishaps In Canada

By The Canadian Press
The toll for Canada's Safe Driving Day: four dead, scores of accidents, but still encouraging.

But an early survey by The Canadian Press indicated the number of traffic accidents likely will be smaller than the average for a 24-hour period based on previous year's figures.

United States traffic deaths on Safe Driving Day equalled a comparable recent day in which there was no concentrated campaign. It far surpassed last year's total of 51.

An Associated Press survey today showed a total of 69 deaths Thursday, equal to the 69 traffic deaths counted in an AP survey on Thursday, Nov. 17, which was made for comparison.

COMET JET AIRLINER AT CAIRO ON TEST RUN

(UP and AP Dispatches)

CAIRO, Egypt—Britain's new Comet III jet airliner flew here from London today in four hours, 48 minutes. It was the first leg of an 11,400-mile test flight from London to Australia.

The four-jet Comet III is successor to Britain's ill-fated Comet I, taken out of service after two of the jet airliners exploded in mid-air last year.

The London-Cairo flight's fast time served notice on America's Boeing 707 and Douglas DC-8 jet-liners that Britain is going to offer stiff competition in the jet age on world air routes.

Garbage Fill Urged on City

New Disposal System Backed By Public Works Committee

A temporary program of land-fill garbage disposal in the Topaz Park-Baker Brickyard area—as a forerunner of a complete new garbage disposal system—was recommended today by city council public works committee.

If approved by city council, the project will start in six months.

Public meetings will be held in the area to explain the program to nearby residents who last year blocked a similar plan with strenuous protests.

It is hoped that adoption of the land-fill system will save the city $12,000 a year over existing costs and finance the new garbage disposal system without increasing the costs to the taxpayers.

The new plant would be located near the city works plant at Garbally yard.

EXPERIMENTAL

The land-fill system, if approved, would operate for six months on an experimental basis. If for any reason it is not acceptable, then the city will be faced with immediate construction of a new garbage wharf and a renewed program of sea dumping or contracting for land-fill to Up-Island points.

The committee decision was reached following receipt of a lengthy report from J. C. Garrett, acting city engineer.

He pointed out that the present wharf is in need of extensive repairs and that an expenditure of $43,200 would make it suitable for another five years' usage.

At the present time, the garbage wharf is inadequate to handle all trucks wishing to discharge garbage there, he stated. He added that 40 per cent of the timbers are in need of replacement.

Its location at present, at the foot of Swift street, provides a breeding place for flies, a smoke and fire nuisance and allows garbage dispersal over the city by seagulls, he said.

ALL MEANS

He reviewed all possible means of disposal—open dumps, use as hog fuel, reduction for fertilizer, biological reduction, land-fill, incineration, grinding and disposal as sewage and dumping at sea.

Only incineration, disposal at sea and land fill would be satisfactory here, the report said, and one or the other must be adopted.

10 YEARS

He said land-fill disposal could only be done locally for about 10 years. The initial land-fill program would be a means of providing the garbage collection centre at Garbally yards, which would be needed if either sea dumping, or incineration or contracted land-fill to up-Island points were decided upon.

Turpin Pays $3,500 On Assault Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—A $3,500 settlement was reached today in the $100,000 damage suit brought by Adele Daniels of New York against British boxer Randy Turpin.

The case has been on trial in Supreme Court for several days. Miss Daniels charged that Turpin assaulted her when he was here to fight Bobo Olson in the fall of 1953.

Oakalla Guard Fired, Gun Turrets Erected

A guard has been fired and three new gun turrets have been built at Oakalla prison farm following an investigation into the recent escape of four prisoners.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the investigation showed the escape was considered "entirely attributable to the unexpected reaction of an unnamed guard to threats by prisoners."

"The guard is no longer in the gaol service," said Mr. Bonner.

St. Laurent Also Orders Inquiry Into CBC Policies

OTTAWA (CP)—The government today appointed a royal commission to study licensing and control of private radio and television broadcasting.

R. M. Fowler of Montreal, president of the Pulp and Paper Association of Canada, was named chairman. Edmund Turcotte, Canadian ambassador to Columbia, and James Stewart, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, were appointed members.

The commission was empowered to study and make recommendations on the licensing and control of private radio and television broadcasting; the financing and broadcasting policies of the CBC; and any other subject the commission may decide.

The commission is expected to start work early in the new year.

FOWLER IS CHAIRMAN

Mr. Fowler, commission chairman, will be 49 Dec. 7, and has been president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association since 1945. A distinguished lawyer, he graduated in law from Osgoode Hall, Toronto, in 1931.

A highlight of his legal career was his association from 1937 to 1939 with the Rowell-Sirois commission on federal provincial relations, first as legal secretary to Chief Justice N. W. Rowell, commission chairman, and later as one of the secretaries who prepared the commission's report.

Envoy Defies E. Berlin Reds

(UP and AP Dispatches)

BERLIN—U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant drove defiantly into East Berlin flying the American flag from his car today shortly after he had pledged the Western powers "will remain in Berlin" until Germany is reunified.

Conant afterwards said his tour was designed to give East Berliners "proof of the continuing interest of the United States government in the welfare of this brave and important city."

After his drive, Conant held a news conference in which he reaffirmed the West's determination to protect Berlin.

He repeated his statement that the West will hold the Soviets responsible for maintaining the present four-power system in their sector despite East German defiance of occupation regulations.

Conant said the United States, Britain and France are dedicated to preserving Berlin's four-power status until Germany is reunified.

TO INSIST ON RIGHTS

The West would continue to insist on the free circulation of not only Allied personnel in the four sectors of Berlin, but also of the German population, he said.

It was the first time in the current controversy that either the Russians or their East German satellites have used the term "four-power." The Communists have confined themselves hitherto to saying that East Berlin is no longer occupied territory but is the "sovereign" capital of East Germany.

The dispute began with Russian rejection of Western proposals about the detention at

Mr. Bonner said the inquiry by department officials into "the custodial technique and circumstances surrounding the recent escape have been concluded."

He said the findings "indicate a general satisfaction with respect to practices at the prison."

PROFESSORS ARE REALLY ABSENT-MINDED

VANCOUVER (CP)—A half-dozen faculty members of the University of British Columbia had to stand in the rain outside the faculty club Thursday night. They had gathered to hear an address on atoms for peace by Dr. J. W. T. Spinks of the University of Saskatchewan.

The speech was delayed 20 minutes. None of the professors had remembered to bring a key.

'COST' PROVES COSTLY; PRIZE GOES TO $325

With interest and popularity zooming week by week as the prize money mounts, The Times' Crossword Puzzle for last week drew thousands of entries. None of them were 100 per cent correct, however, so the total award for this week's contest jumps to $325.

"Cost" was the word that eluded most entrants last week. "At a party, few people will eat and drink to excess without considering the—" was the clue. More than half the entries showed the answer as "host."

Complete answer to last week's puzzle and a new puzzle for this week appear today on Page 31.

30 Canadians Going To Duke's Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe has been appointed chairman of a committee to assist in selecting 30 Canadians to attend the Duke of Edinburgh's study conference on the human problems of industrial communities in the Commonwealth.

The conference is scheduled for next July 9-27 at Oxford, England. Vice-chairmen of the Canadian selection committee are Claude Jodoin of Ottawa, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, and W. S. Kirkpatrick of Montreal, vice-president of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd.

An announcement by the trade department today said the committee will try to ensure that all industries and regions in Canada are represented in the Canadian group going to Oxford. Applications for membership must be submitted through an industrial firm, trade union, national association or crown company. Applicants will be chosen broadly from men and women between the ages of 25 and 45.

The conference grew out of a suggestion made to the duke by Britain's Industrial Welfare Society of which he is a patron.

Giant Union Ready to Go Next Monday

CIO Approves Merger With AFL

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL and CIO merged today into a single federation of 16,000,000 members—the largest organized labor force in the free world.

The CIO voted overwhelming approval in its final convention session.

The AFL endorsed the merger unanimously in its convention on Thursday.

The combined organization, to be known as the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations, will meet in convention here Monday.

The CIO stamp on endorsement came over heated objections from Michael Quill, president of the 90-member Transport Workers' Union, composed largely of New York bus and subway employees.

In a roll-call vote, Quill recorded his union as opposed to the merger.

OTHER DISSENTING VOTES

The only other dissenting votes came from Dominic Merolla of the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., industrial council of the United Steelworkers, and Frank England of the Springfield, Ill., industrial council.

Quill argued that the merger would place the CIO under an AFL thumb. He charged also that the proposed constitution of the combined organization lacked sufficient safeguards against racial discrimination, racketeering and inter-union raiding.

An array of other CIO leaders took issue with Quill's stand. They said that, even if there were disagreement over actual wording of the constitution, the new organization could be depended upon to implement the words with spirit.

ALBERTO GAINZA PAZ

Paz Returns to Take Charge Of La Prensa

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Back in Argentina after nearly five years of exile, editor Alberto Gainza Paz today set about the job of again taking charge of the newspaper La Prensa.

Gainza Paz and his wife arrived Thursday night from New York. He told a cheering crowd of several thousand at the airport: "It is with indescribable emotion that I return to my liberated country... after being separated by an ignominious dictatorship."

La Prensa, a powerful independent publication, was seized by the regime of Juan Peron in 1951 and turned over to the Peron-controlled General Confederation of Labor. Gainza Paz fled to safety.

The government of provisional president Pedro Aramburu issued a decree Wednesday returning La Prensa to the Paz family, which founded the paper in 1869.

Horses Panic, Duncan Man Drowned in Lake

Divers Seek Body At Lake Cowichan

A team of Navy divers left Victoria today for Honeymoon Bay, Cowichan Lake, to search for the body of a teamster drowned Thursday afternoon when his team panicked.

Tom Hewitt, about 39, of Duncan, was pulling logs from the lake with his team when the harness became caught on a snag in the lake.

Hewitt was astride one of the horses. When the harness fouled the horses panicked and floundered in the water at a point where the lake bed shelves sharply. The horses pitched off the shelf into 30 feet of water, carrying Hewitt, a non-swimmer, with them.

Witness of the accident was his 18-year-old son, who had been working with him. Bodies of the horses were recovered, but Hewitt is believed at the 30-foot depth.

Navy frogmen making the search are PO Keith Powers, Ottawa, and LS Jack Thompson, Victoria, both of HMCS Naden diving school.

Lawyer Asks Chief to Reveal Why He 'Killed' 164 Parking Tickets

Reasons for cancellation of an estimated 164 parking tickets during October by the chief of police are demanded by city lawyer William C. Moresby Jr.

Mr. Moresby said he is representing a number of citizens who are concerned about reports from a police commission-Commissionaire meeting Thursday.

Chief Blackstock will be out of town until Monday and not available for comment.

It was revealed Thursday that Commissionaire meter patrols issued 3,875 tickets in October, but fines were paid for only 2,774 in the same period. About 524 of these were cancelled by the Commissionaires on the spot, or because of out-of-order meters or exempt cars being ticketed.

About 400, which Police Chief John Blackstock could not readily account for Thursday, were later reported to be in processing and had been represented by fines collected in November. The chief said that another 164 had been cancelled at his discretion.

"Where does the discretion, if by-laws?" Mr. Moresby asked. "We want to know who they excuse some people from the were and what the reasons provisions of the parking meter were."

Three Meetings Scheduled For Candidates

Victoria voters will have three more opportunities to hear civic election candidates before polling day, next Thursday.

Two public appearances will be made by mayoralty candidate P. B. Scurrah and all candidates for mayor, council and police commission, 15 in all, will be heard from the stage of Central Junior High School Tuesday at 8 p.m. School board members Harold Whitfield and Kenneth Leeming were elected by acclamation Thursday.

Mr. Scurrah will address ratepayers at James Bay Community hall tonight at 8. Saturday, he will speak at Royal Athletic park, just prior to the kick-off of the Coast Soccer League game between Victoria Strathconas and Vancouver Halecos, at 2.15 p.m.

ROVING MIKE
The written question rule observed in previous Junior Chamber of Commerce election forums will be dropped Tuesday in favor of a roving microphone.

Members of the audience who will hear city candidates at Central Junior High School that night will be able to address their questions to speakers orally.

Some dissatisfaction was expressed in other years that all questions were not read out after being submitted in written form.

The Jaycees will stage a parade at 2 p.m. Saturday to draw attention to their "get-out-the-vote" drive.

A comic band, clowns and cars bearing placards will leave the Eagles home and wind through the downtown area.

Speakers at the forum will be allowed five minutes each with exception of mayoralty candidates Mayor Claude Harrison and Percy B. Scurrah, who will speak for 10 minutes each.

Those candidates who are seeking two offices, Elmer D. McEwen and Joe North, will try both for police commission and council, will be allowed to speak once only. Fourteen speakers are expected to take the stand.

Liquor Stores Close 3 Days at Christmas

B.C. government liquor stores will be closed for three successive days at Christmas.

Officials said today all stores will be closed on Monday, Dec. 26, and Tuesday, Dec. 27, in addition to the normal Sunday closing on Christmas Day.

Closure is the result of provincial cabinet action in declaring both Monday and Tuesday provincial holidays.

Other news for holiday tipplers came today from Liquor Commissioner Col. Donald McGugan.

He said cocktail bars and beer parlors will be closed on Boxing Day, Dec. 26, to allow their staffs to enjoy the holiday.

Dining rooms and dining lounges will be allowed to remain open on that day.

Government liquor stores will also be closed on the Monday following New Year's Day, Jan. 1, which falls on a Sunday this year.

Alta. Socred League Asks Simple Ballot

CALGARY (CP)—The Alberta Social Credit League has asked the provincial government to scrap the province's complicated voting system in favor of the simpler "x" ballot-marking method.

The delegates attending the league's 21st annual convention here Thursday voted overwhelmingly in favor of resolutions asking the provincial government to revert to the simpler system in rural constituencies and to divide the cities of Edmonton and Calgary into wards to simplify voting procedure.

Arab Refugees Coming to Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has tentatively decided to admit as immigrants to Canada a "limited number" of Palestinian refugees, the external affairs department announced today.

Officials said it will have to be determined how many suitable refugees want to enter Canada and how many can be absorbed before the actual number to be admitted can be decided.

There are some 950,000 refugees, mostly Arabs, who left Israel during the Palestine war and most of them exist in camps in Lebanon and Jordan.

DUKE'S BEER SO NEAR... BUT SO FAR

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh pumped himself a beer in a public bar Thursday, but he didn't get to drink it.

The duke popped in at the saloon while inspecting a block of new flats in Regent's Park. Spotting the old-fashioned hand beer pump which is a fixture in all British bars, he drew a mug of beer with almost professional adeptness. "I've always wanted to do that," he told proprietor Dermot McDermott.

"Sorry, I can't let you have a drink," said McDermott. "It's after legal closing hours."

Strawberry Growers Hard Hit by Frost

ABBOTSFORD (CP)—Strawberry growers in the Fraser valley may be out of the commercial growing field for at least a year as a result of heavy frost damage to crops in November.

Extent of the damage will not be known until the frost is out of the ground.

Profits and Legends

IT WAS REMARKED HERE THE other day that the School Board would be unwise to distribute through the public schools a booklet on business, prepared by the Chamber of Commerce. But the booklet itself is an excellent document which deserves a wide reading public; for it attempts to explain the proper place of profits in our economic system.

Probably no part of that system is so little understood and frequently distorted as profits. Many people seem to think that profits are at worst an evil or, at best, an unavoidable weakness in an otherwise successful economy. Many suppose, too, that profits are confined to a few rich men while the community at large receives only the crumbs from their tables.

In fact, every person, from the richest to the poorest, lives on profits in one form or the other, and assuredly we cannot hope to increase our standard of living without maintaining our profits. For it is only out of profits—the difference between our expenditure and our income—that we can save enough to expand our productive apparatus and hence our wealth.

Profits and nothing else have nourished the prodigious expansion of our economy since the beginning. If there had been no profits and no re-investment we would still be living like the Indians before the white man arrived.

No sensible man will object to profits, the incentive and the central engine of all business, under any system of society. The practical question, discussed in the Chamber of Commerce booklet, is whether profits in Canada are currently fair or unfair, whether the investor is getting enough or too much for his investment.

The over-all answer to that question is obvious—the economy, based on profits, is stronger and more abundant than it ever was and the public is enjoying a record standard of living. It cannot be said, therefore, that a few men are deriving most of the profits of the nation's labor when clearly the whole public has benefited.

Profits, to be sure, have increased substantially of late years, as the booklet notes. Between 1939 and 1951, for example, the 51 typical corporations analyzed by the Chamber of Commerce increased their profits, after taxes, by 150 per cent. This seems a pretty steep rise until it is compared to the rise in wages. The payrolls of Canada increased, during the same period, by 281 per cent. They rose much more rapidly than profits.

"The simple fact," as the booklet says, "is that there are now more companies employing more people and producing more goods. If one company makes a thousand dollars profit one year and the following year there are two competing companies, which combined turn out twice the volume of the year previous, and each makes a profit of a thousand dollars, then profits have increased 100 per cent, but neither firm has made a higher percentage of profit."

What percentage of profit does the average Canadian business make? Over the last decade net profits have accounted for only about five cents of every dollar of sales.

If no profits had been paid to investors in the form of dividends, if all the net income earned by business had been paid in the form of wages, what would have happened? Wage rates would have increased by a very small margin, the investors would have received nothing and no money would have been set aside for re-investment in expanded industry. The economy would have stood still. It can advance only when money is saved to build new factories and new machines; and money can be saved only out of somebody's profits.

It is commonly supposed that only a few people share immediately in the profits of industry but in fact industry's stock is widely held, directly or indirectly, throughout the nation. Directly many people in modest circumstances own stock. Indirectly most Canadian families own it because they own life insurance, or are dependent on pension funds, which in turn are holders of stocks.

It can be argued, of course that wealth is still unfairly distributed and society unjust. It cannot be argued, in the face of known facts, that any system provides as much wealth for so many people as the free enterprise system. It has provided so much wealth, indeed, that it can support social benefits through the state—that is to say through a transfer of wealth—unknown to any other system. It is getting fairer all the time.

Helping the Indian Up the Hill

CANADA'S EFFORTS TO BRING its Indians to full citizenship will be centred largely on education. While the process cannot be rushed, steady progress is being made to that end and opportunities to integrate native children into public schools are being and will be seized where they present themselves.

That, roughly, is the outline of policy presented last week by Mr. John Pickersgill, who, in addition to being minister of citizenship and immigration is also superintendent general of Indian affairs.

The national plan appears to conform in general terms to that devised here when this province pioneered such work through its continuing committee on Indian affairs.

It is a point of incidental interest that the B.C. program should be thoroughly understood in Ottawa. Working for the federal department now is Mr. Reg. Kelly, himself a Haida and formerly secretary of the provincial committee. He joined the Ottawa staff following his resignation from the B.C. body where he felt his efforts for the Indians were being frustrated by the attitude of his senior, the present provincial minister of labor.

Here and in Ottawa the goal is to bring the native to full citizenship. Although that is the constant aim, it is by no means the only consideration before the Indian Department.

While advances are made toward the ultimate objective, the Indians need more direct help. Housing and living conditions for most of them are below standard. Opportunities for employment are not as wide as they are for other Canadians.

To overcome these problems, Mr. Pickersgill says, special assistance is being afforded to the natives. Efforts are being made to train them for work which will give them reasonably steady employment and leaders within the bands themselves are encouraged to help in the direction of communal affairs.

The Indians, of course, may attain full citizenship as individuals whenever they renounce their special privileges and become enfranchised. That is the eventual solution.

"I am convinced," Mr. Pickersgill says, "that the Indians should be encouraged to accept just as much responsibility as they seem able to bear; and that the more responsibility they can accept for their own affairs, both individually and as bands, the happier they will be and the greater will be their contribution to our common Canadian life."

The minister's concept is sound. He is wise, moreover, in recognizing the fact that the change will not occur overnight and that the best hope for it lies in educating the young in an appreciation of the citizenship status open to them.

It's Up to the Driver

GREATER VICTORIA HAS been given preferred automobile insurance rating for three apparent reasons.

Drivers here have established, during the last three years, a record which justifies lower charges on a claims basis than have drivers in certain other districts.

Companies, moreover, have drawn a finer distinction between different categories of drivers, extending to those with accident-free records for two and three years the consideration to which they seem entitled.

Beyond this, agents here are facing sharper competition from over-the-counter or mail order business in the case of the safest risks.

While the economics of insurance writing are the determining factors in the most recent rate reduction, the performance of local motorists is the basic reason for the savings they have earned.

That puts one point in sharp relief. As long as car owners here operate their vehicles in a way to minimize costly accidents, they can expect preferred treatment. If the loss figures climb, so will the premiums.

The importance of this fact is emphasized by the procedure of the rating authorities. They base their calculations on a three-year period. For the first two years leading up to the present rating, the situation here was favorable. The year which ended just before the rates were struck is not so reassuring.

If the motorists of this community hope to retain their advantageous position they will have to drive more prudently. They will have to make every day safe-driving day, thereby conforming to the slogan set for yesterday's campaign. Competition itself cannot assure low charges if the clients pile up heavy bills against the companies which furnish protection to them.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

SOME neighbors of ours had a very attractive little yellow fiberglass dinghy. One of the things I like best about boats is that the good-looking ones are also the able ones. This is not always true (to put it mildly) of men, cars, dogs, musicians, and even women. Well, we had a bit of a storm along our beach the other day, and our neighbors' boat was taken away, along with the davits from which it hung, and the seawall on which the davits stood. Two days later there was a very attractive little fiberglass dinghy seen drifting along our shore. It was the twin of the lost one, except that it was red, and slightly better equipped: New oars. New rope painter, carefully spliced. When it got exactly offshore from our neighbor's place it altered course and headed for the beach, where it grounded gently and waited for somebody to come and make it welcome. All it needed was a red ribbon, and a card saying "with love from your favorite saint."

WHEN my children told me this true story, I suddenly asked if these people belong to a church which has saints, and they said yes. So this makes me a good guesser. But then we began to wonder from whom the saints borrowed the new little red dinghy. And here my guessing stops, though undoubtedly the red dinghy must have belonged to a member of a rival outfit.

Speaking of religion, somebody asked me the other day what my religion was, and it so happened that I didn't like him and his tone and the occasion, so I didn't find it convenient to tell him the truth. Instead, I told him that I am a Greek Orthodox. In real life, I believe, an orthodox is merely a man who treats children whose bite is worse than their bark, so to speak. But it does sound terribly religious.

LAST month there was a news item from Stratford-upon-Avon, describing the realistic staging (by Olivier) of that horrible play "Titus Andronicus," which is supposed to be by Shakespeare. About five people fainted at every performance. On the best night, 20 people fainted. Among the sound effects, you can hear Sir Laurence's hand being chopped off.

Crunch.

Well, this sort of thing not only brings us back to the nasty little French plays of (I think it was) about 1921... they were called Grand Guignol, and their object was to scare the audience silly. I didn't see any of these plays myself. But when I was 11 I was told about them by a man who'd seen some of them, and I was suitably terrified and can still remember the gist of one of them.

IT was about a girl who was to be discharged the next day from a mental hospital. Unhappily, she found herself chatting (in a dimly lit room) with two old women. And it just so happened that these two old women were homicidal maniacs. Yep. So what did these old women do but take out her eyes with crochet hooks (on the dimly lit stage). And what happened next? I'd be glad enough to tell you, but I honestly don't think the Editor would let me, and he'd probably be right at that. And what they did involved certain sound effects. (Sorry to spare you.) And the audience began fainting, and the theatre made pots of money. If there's one thing people like, it's the chance to pay money in order to feel faint.

About 30 years later the French had got more subtle, if also duller. For example, during the very successful run of one of Sartre's gloomier plays, about four years ago, an average of two people from each audience went out and bumped themselves off. (This is true.) Sounds just like Monte Carlo, really, except that the theatre-goer left the show in a state of spiritual rather than financial bankruptcy.

WELL, either way, an audience loves it. Intellectual depression, or the crunching of chopped hands. Now it seems to me that if you wanted to try a flutter in the theatre, you might be able to combine these two attractions. I have some pretty good ideas for the sound effects. But neither the Editor nor my financial backers will let me describe them. I can reveal this much, though. We will not rely merely on sound and sight. Touch, taste, and smell will enter into it. For example, at the height of the carnage we plan to spray the audience with warm red ketchup. And lots of people won't know, till they get home and wash off the ketchup (if they ever DO get home) that their hair has turned white. Boy, if that isn't Art, I don't know what is.

AS for the intellectual alarm and despondency, that'll be easy. The field is wide open. I have one sure-fire theme. This play will demonstrate the physical and mental destruction wrought by courage. Not only will this depress the audience in itself, but it will rob them of any desire to be brave during the sound effects.

Oh, I forgot to tell you... I am writing the play in close collaboration with a lawyer and a psychologist. The lawyer knows all about the art of persuasion. And the psychologist thinks he knows all about how to keep the audience from laughing. He doesn't really know. Not yet. But he's working on it. Ever see a psychologist working? It's quite a sight. Makes me feel faint. I'm glad it hasn't any sound effects.

BUSES AND OFF-STREET PARKING

We read and hear a lot about creating off-street parking lots. The city centre has few outlets for this purpose. We have a market place, bringing in little revenue, and used only a few hours per week mostly by growers living in Saanich. A less valuable location could be found to replace same.

Could not the B.C. Electric take over and turn it into a central bus depot, doing away with all stops in the city centre; thereby creating more parking places for private cars, bringing in more revenue to the city? (There might also be room for parking cars too, with revenue.)

The old Brackman Ker Building could be remodelled into good off-street parking.

This would mean building a new fire hall and police station which could be combined in one.

This may be an interesting subject for the mayor and council next year. Furthermore, the public must adjust itself to present day conditions, by walking a block to shelter and comfort, to board the bus.

FLOATING PUBLICITY

Edmonton Eskimos stayed at the Empress Hotel. Right? Victoria should have had a float of the Empress Hotel with beautiful garden surroundings.

With the float should have been the May Queen, plus Mr. Bert Thomas who swam the Straits. After all, Mr. Thomas is a Victorian now. Toronto had its swimmer, didn't it? (Miss M. Bell is a very attractive Canadian swimmer.)

Another float very appealing to prairie people could have been centred by the Curling Club: winter sports in evergreen Victoria!

With these floats the Victoria Girls Drill Team might have appeared with bands across the front or back "Follow the Birds to Victoria."

These floats should have been put up by Woodwards, Bay, Eaton's and Birks—with some support from other business merchants.

According to G. F. Dunn "this city was not invited to take part."

Brother, what does he think this is, an invitation for an afternoon "cup of tea"? He wants an invitation. Does he sent out personal invitations to tourists to visit our city?

Please Victorians, wake up!

RATIONALISM

Many of our readers may regard theology as rational and are therefore confused when they meet the term "Rationalism" or "Rationalist" as opposed to organized religions.

Rationalism stands for the application to religion of those scientific methods which have proved their efficacy in other fields of human enquiry. If there is a rationalist prejudice, it is a prejudice in favor of honesty, and so he applies to the so-called Holy Books the same criteria of truth that he applies to any other books.

The Rationalist sees in scientific method the only avenue to objective truth. He accepts the provisional picture of the world painted by modern astronomy, physics, biology and anthropology. He sees no more evidence for the existence of the God of the Bible than for that of Zeus, Brahma, or Allah. He believes Christianity to be no more divine than Buddhism, Confucianism, or Islam.

Whatever may be his destiny after death (few Rationalists expect survival) he does not think it will be a penny the worse for his disbelief in religion, nor that it would be a penny the better if he died in a deep religious fog.

ATHLETIC PARK FOR AMATEURS

It seems to most sports participants and fans in Victoria that the time has come when a definite stand must be taken on the use of Royal Athletic Park.

During the past few years all local leagues, teams and players have met nothing but frustration from needless cancelled games, exorbitant charges for both practices and playing of games. While it is conceded that probably certain concessions might be granted to such organizations as the recently visiting professional Edmonton Eskimos and the now defunct Victoria Tyees Baseball Club for their advertising value, the fact still remains that local sportsmen, and players, many of whom are taxpayers should not have to subsidize them nor suffer for their presence.

In the first place, no local sporting organization can operate successfully while the parks board can cancel games up to almost starting time which it has done on many occasions, lest the grass be damaged. Games are played everywhere but in Victoria in snow slush or rain as witnessed by recent games on television. A good illustration was the cancelling of the Pacific Coast League soccer game on Saturday Nov. 19, 1955 and on the next day Sunday Nov. 20, 1955, the Edmonton Eskimos could use the park and for three or four days thereafter.

Any local team wishing to practice in the park is charged $3.75 an hour plus the cost of the lights, if used. You can't use the main field and are put in the top corner. If practicing baseball, half the time the sprinklers are put on so that you can't use the diamond. The new dressing room built for the professionals, can not be used except on special occasions. A deposit of $25 to $50 must be made with the city before you can walk in the gates.

The city's percentage at the gate when a visiting Old Country soccer team plays in the Park for an exhibition game amounts to hundreds of dollars, plus a hundred or two to mark the field and put up the nets etc. Last year when the local baseball team wanted to play a game against the Chemainus baseball team in the Island play-off the parks department charges were over $100.

Again these are isolated cases but many more could be mentioned. This is deliberate sabotage to those needing to use this park. All local sport reduces juvenile delinquency and therefore should be encouraged, not hindered. The big shots that show up when the professionals come to town, certainly hide when a local product needs assistance. Some day their sons or daughters might be looking for such an organization to be taught sportsmanship and good fellowship. Let first things be first by helping those trying to help others.

Lack of Foresight

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Washington

ON the question of the admission of new members to the United Nations the U.S. has been outwitted by the Soviet Union and has been landed in a box from which there is no graceful exit.

The affair is a horrible example of how to lose face, of how to lose influence, of how to make the United States look foolish—for no better reason than the men at the top did not stop to think about what was happening and what they were doing.

The U.N. has sixty members and since 1950 no new member has been admitted. Every applicant has been blackballed either by the Soviet Union or by the Western nations. This has excluded the Soviet satellites—Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Albania and Outer Mongolia. It has excluded among others Italy, Austria, Portugal, Finland, Japan—and Spain which did not apply until very recently because it knew that the Soviet Union would use its veto.

It has long been obvious that the only way to break the deadlock was by a deal with the Soviet Union. We would have to stop vetoing their satellites if they would stop vetoing our clients. The idea of the so-called package deal was, as a matter of fact, first proposed by the United States in 1946.

There were then nine applicants—among them not only Portugal, Iceland and Sweden but also, we may note, Outer Mongolia. We proposed that in spite of our misgivings about Albania and Outer Mongolia, all nine should be admitted on the principle of "universality of membership."

Nationalist China supported the American proposals. Mr. Dulles, who was then an alternate delegate to the General Assembly, presumably supported the American position. It was the Soviet Union which blocked that package deal, insisting on considering each applicant separately.

CANADIAN LEADERSHIP

The idea of a package deal was revived seriously last summer, and the leadership was taken by Canada. There were then twenty-one applicants. Canada proposed that all the applicants, except only the divided countries of Korea and Vietnam, be admitted in one package.

Canada got the support of twenty-five members to sponsor its proposal to admit seventeen applicants. It was known in September that the Soviet Union was probably prepared to admit sixteen—all but Japan. At about that time—on Sept. 23—Spain applied. Then there were eighteen nations in the Canadian package.

The Soviet Union, swallowing hard over Spain and Japan, nevertheless swallowed them. This meant that there was no further obstacle on the Soviet side to admitting Italy, Spain, Portugal, Ireland, Austria, Finland and Japan.

At this point Mr. Dulles and Mr. Lodge gawgled at Outer Mongolia. They could swallow Albania. They could not swallow Outer Mongolia. The result, which they did not foresee though they should have foreseen it, was to isolate the United States as the sole obstacle to the admission of Italy, Spain, Japan and the other countries whose good will means so much to us.

When Mr. Dulles was recently in Rome and in Madrid, he heard from both countries on that subject.

This is what I meant by saying that the U.S. has been outwitted. Once the Soviet Union accepted the package which included Spain and Japan, it was sheer folly for the United States to make a fuss about Outer Mongolia. If we were really serious about swallowing that gnat, it would mean that we would get all the blame not only from the eighteen applicants who would be excluded but from almost all the other sixty members who favor the package deal.

The proof that we have been outwitted is our present position. We do not dare to veto Outer Mongolia, though that is what we should do if a serious matter of principle were involved. We will not vote at all, that is to say to abstain. But that is not the whole of it.

HUMILIATING BUSINESS

We do not dare to have the package deal fall because of the worldwide opprobrium which will come upon the U.S. if it does. As we do not wish to vote for Outer Mongolia openly, we are driven to the humiliating business of working behind the scenes to persuade other nations that, despite our own abstention, they should vote for Outer Mongolia and put the deal through.

We are in the mess for no other reason than that Mr. Lodge and Mr. Dulles did not take the trouble to think out what they were doing. It was not the power and the guile of the Russians. It was not the clamor of Congress. It was not the pressure of an Outer Mongolian group of refugees. It was not the lack of armaments. It was not the lack of money.

It was just the lack of a reasonable, not very difficult or far-reaching, foresight.

Is there any way out? The least embarrassing to the United States would be the present form of the Canadian resolution. It does not name the eighteen applicants but merely approves if a "majority" of all those countries about which no problem of unification arises. This would permit Americans to vote yes on the whole package—instead of abstaining on Outer Mongolia while asking our friends to vote for Outer Mongolia.

Muddled Thinking

We have a number of people, it's rather amazing, that have numerous convictions, but have tattooed on their forearm "Death before Dishonor."

—Superintendent A. S. O. Crawford, who is in charge of the Criminal Record Office at Scotland Yard.

Blind to the Artistry of It

EVERY now and then I grow despondent over my lack of understanding for what other people recognize as culture.

It's all very well for individuals like me to create our defences and try to justify our blindness or deafness to the finer things of art.

We can excuse ourselves for non-attendance at the ballet by saying we're strictly Gypsy Rose Lee admirers. We can say we didn't go to the symphony because we wanted to stay home and play an old Lionel Hampton record.

We can hide our ignorance at the Arts Centre behind the general laughter when we explain that we came up through the Vie Parisienne, Petty and Vargo schools.

But we're not even kidding ourselves. The phrenologists might say we have a depression where the bump of esthetic veneration should be.

The deficiency comes home to people like me when they stand in the gallery and listen to Colin Graham explain a Jack Shadbolt composition hanging there. Colin can give you a glimmering of understanding. He can point out the philosophical import of the work. He can trace for you the development of the idea behind it and the selectiveness with which the artist has chosen detail to make his point.

Because of my unfortunate esthetic blindness, the explanation always seems to me much more convincing than the object.

And that's all right with Jack Shadbolt, too. A few years ago I presumed on an old association—Jack was president of the Victoria College Students' Council when I was a freshman there—to ask him about his art.

SHADBOLT ATTITUDE

If memory serves me, he said the artist was entitled to work out his own ideas in line and color, to put down what he felt in a way which expressed his mental, or perhaps psychic, processes. Nobody could deny the artist that right. But the artist, he added, had no right to insist that the viewer would see the finished work the way its creator did.

It was a happy circumstance when somebody, or a group of somebodies, did and were so impressed that they bought the picture.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

When Operation Did Not Help

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Any number of persons ask why they are just as miserable after their gallbladder operation as they were before. I cannot answer them without asking them a number of questions, and even then I might be puzzled. If, before the operation, a woman had gallstones and was suffering from colics needing morphine, then we can be almost certain that her symptoms were due to a diseased gallbladder, and her operation was needed.

If, now, she is still suffering from occasional spells of the old pain in the abdomen just below her ribs on the right, and especially if these spells are associated with vomiting and brief fever, I would suspect that at the operation some stones were missed and left behind in the duct that runs from the liver to the bowel just below the stomach. One cannot blame the surgeon for this because such stones are often very hard to detect. In a case of this type the patient may be forced to accept another operation. Since it may be a very difficult one, it should be performed by an unusually able surgeon.

In my experience, the persistence of a lot of nervous distresses after a gallbladder operation is due to the fact that the gallbladder never was responsible for the symptoms: They were all coming out of a nervous or troubled brain.

In many cases today an X-ray man, trying to be helpful, reports that the gallbladder emptied a little slowly, or it was slightly deformed (usually since birth) or it looked as if there were adhesions about it. Then the surgeon, also wanting to be helpful, removes what turns out on examination to be a normal gallbladder. Naturally, this does not do any good.

In most cases, what happened was that there were some stones in the gallbladder but they were not producing any of the symptoms complained of. They were about as harmful to the woman as if they were out in her handbag. She never had a colic and she had a good digestion without any flatulence. Naturally, then, the removal of her gallbladder could not possibly have done her any good.

Why did the woman's physicians make the mistake? Because in our medical schools there is no one to teach the students one of the most important courses that is needed, and this would be a course on the art of disregarding those findings that have nothing to do with producing an individual's symptoms. Because, when I was in college, I never Artists, Jack explained, like to eat, too. They have inner processes and appreciations which don't always show on canvas but are very understandable to the least informed.

A large section of the artistically literate buying public sees things the way Jack does—which accounts for his very considerable success and recognition.

This gives me a vicarious pleasure. My friend Jack's up in the majors and holding his own. In the idiom of the high school a year or two ago, I don't know what he's doing, but he's sure doing good.

I find it easier to follow the work of Jan Zach. At the Arts Centre now Jan has a torso on display. It is a well polished golden yellow figure fashioned from a twisted willow trunk. It makes sense to me, and in my fumbling way I can appreciate its texture. But the thought would never enter my head, were I confronted with the raw materials of the piece, to try to shape it into a torso as a work of art.

HUMBLE ART

Not that I'm disinterested in wood. Only the other day I expended small talents, much sweat and modest profanity on a fine length of alder.

It floated in to the foot of the lot. I hooked it on to the handwinch, struggled it up the slip, sawed off cordwood lengths and split them. Now it seems to me that maybe culture is a broad enough term to define my operations that day. And they were not without a certain swinging rhythm, an appreciation for the rich coloring of alder, reddened by exposure and creamy yellow where the wedge revealed the unweathered fibres of its grain.

There was a melody to the performance, too—the singing voice of a saw biting through the trunk, the sharp ring of the sledge on steel in a sort of Anvil Chorus, which must be lowbrow because I like it.

But if there was a basic cultural appreciation in my activities, it was appreciated even less than many people appreciate modern artistic forms. A man with saw and sledge working his own designs on an alder log isn't given too much time to display a sensitive attraction for the wood. There's almost always a voice behind him saying: "Look, bub, are you going to spend all day staring at that stuff, or are you going to snap out of it and get a few lengths into the basement so we can burn it?"

had such a course, I can remember 40 years ago promising a woman with gallstones that if she would let a surgeon remove them she would be rid of her migrainous sick headaches.

LEARNED HIS LESSON

She had her operation; her headaches became worse, and then and there I learned my lesson. Since then I have seen a hundred migrainous women similarly disappointed after an operation, and so today I am satisfied that gallstones have nothing to do with the production of sick headaches.

I remember in my ignorant youth telling an elderly woman that perhaps some inflammation in her diverticula, or harmless little pouches on the colon, was causing her terrible and constant "misery" all down one side of her body. Today I would never think of saying so silly a thing; I would see that the woman had had a little stroke. I remember with shame another case in which I found that an elderly woman with a constant "misery" in her whole abdomen had a fibroid tumor of her uterus. When I got a surgeon to take it out she was no better. Then I did what no teacher had ever taught me to do; I talked to the family and found that my poor patient was almost insane. She spent each night walking through the house, turning on all the lights, wringing her hands and weeping in an agony of restlessness. She belonged in a mental hospital.

I remember sadly another case of a handsome man of 50 who spent much of every night belching, walking the floor, taking soda and rubbing his abdomen. When the X-ray man said he had seen an ulcer, I, in my ignorance, had the fellow operated on. All the surgeon found was the scar of an ulcer the man had had 30 years before! I did not know then that the constant belching of the type described is due purely to a great anxiety or fear. Next day, on opening the newspaper, I got the correct diagnosis. My patient was the president of a trust company that had been liquidated. His books were being examined and he expected any day to be indicted and sent to jail.

What should all this experience teach? It should teach us physicians not to grasp at what I call "diagnostic straws," and it should teach you readers to put faith more often in what your sensible old family doctor tells you. When he tells you that no matter what might be found on a thorough examination, your symptoms are clearly due to nervousness, don't get too excited when some young enthusiast tells you that your old doctor is behind the times, and what you have is brucellosis, or amebiasis, or a low blood sugar, or psoriasis, or diverticulitis, or a retrocaval appendix or a slowly-emptying gallbladder or a tiny fibroid of the uterus.

UBC STUDENT FINED $3 FOR PELTING TIM BUCK

VANCOUVER—A University of British Columbia engineering student has been fined $3 for pelting Communist leader Tim Buck with apples during a campus address Nov. 1.

John Holland, of Vancouver, was convicted of "conduct unbecoming a university student" by a student court.

In his defence Holland pleaded that Buck's statements had "irritated" him and he could find no other means of protesting.

Too Few Engineers Says Institute Head

Canada is not turning out engineers fast enough to meet the present demand in this country, Dr. R. E. Heartz, Montreal, president Engineering Institute of Canada, said today.

"We are losing ground, and a time has come for a re-adjustment," said Mr. Heartz, who is in Victoria for the annual meeting of the British Columbia Engineering Society.

This re-adjustment must be in the method of engineering education at the universities, he added.

University failures in engineering now average 50 per cent in the first two years, "higher than any other faculty," he said.

The head of the 16,000-member institute said Canada and the United States were turning out about 30,000 engineers yearly. In 1956 Canada can expect 1,700 graduates, a bare 5 per cent increase over this year.

Post-war engineering graduates had long since been gobbled up by business and industry. "They are good men—more mature than many present-day graduates," he said.

"Naturally we think the universities should turn out more and better engineers. Far too many of our young men have been starting university courses ill-equipped for engineering as evidenced by the large percentage of failures."

Roots of this failure he indicated could lie at the high school level.

NEED WIDER KNOWLEDGE

With the greater complexity of engineering and rapid scientific advances "more of our young graduate engineers of the future must be better trained in the basic sciences and humanities."

The graduate should know more of the arts, a broadening education which gives him the opportunity to "see beyond strict specialization."

Canada is not alone in the shortage of engineers. It extends to most of the western countries, "though we are led to believe this may not be so in Russia."

10-YEAR DRIVE

A new and positive step to try to overcome Canada's engineering shortage has just been started, Dr. Heartz told the Times. The institute has embarked on a 10-year drive, in conjunction with the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the Chemical Institute of Canada, in a huge public information program, aimed at interesting the probable engineering student, and adapting engineering education to today's fast-growing needs.

It will include literature, movies, interviews and a host of other information media aimed at improving this country's engineering status.

"A shortage of engineers is

200 Engineers Gather Here For Convention

How to Speak On Saturday

Two hundred members of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C. and the B.C. Engineering Society are gathered at Empress Hotel for their annual meeting and convention today and Saturday.

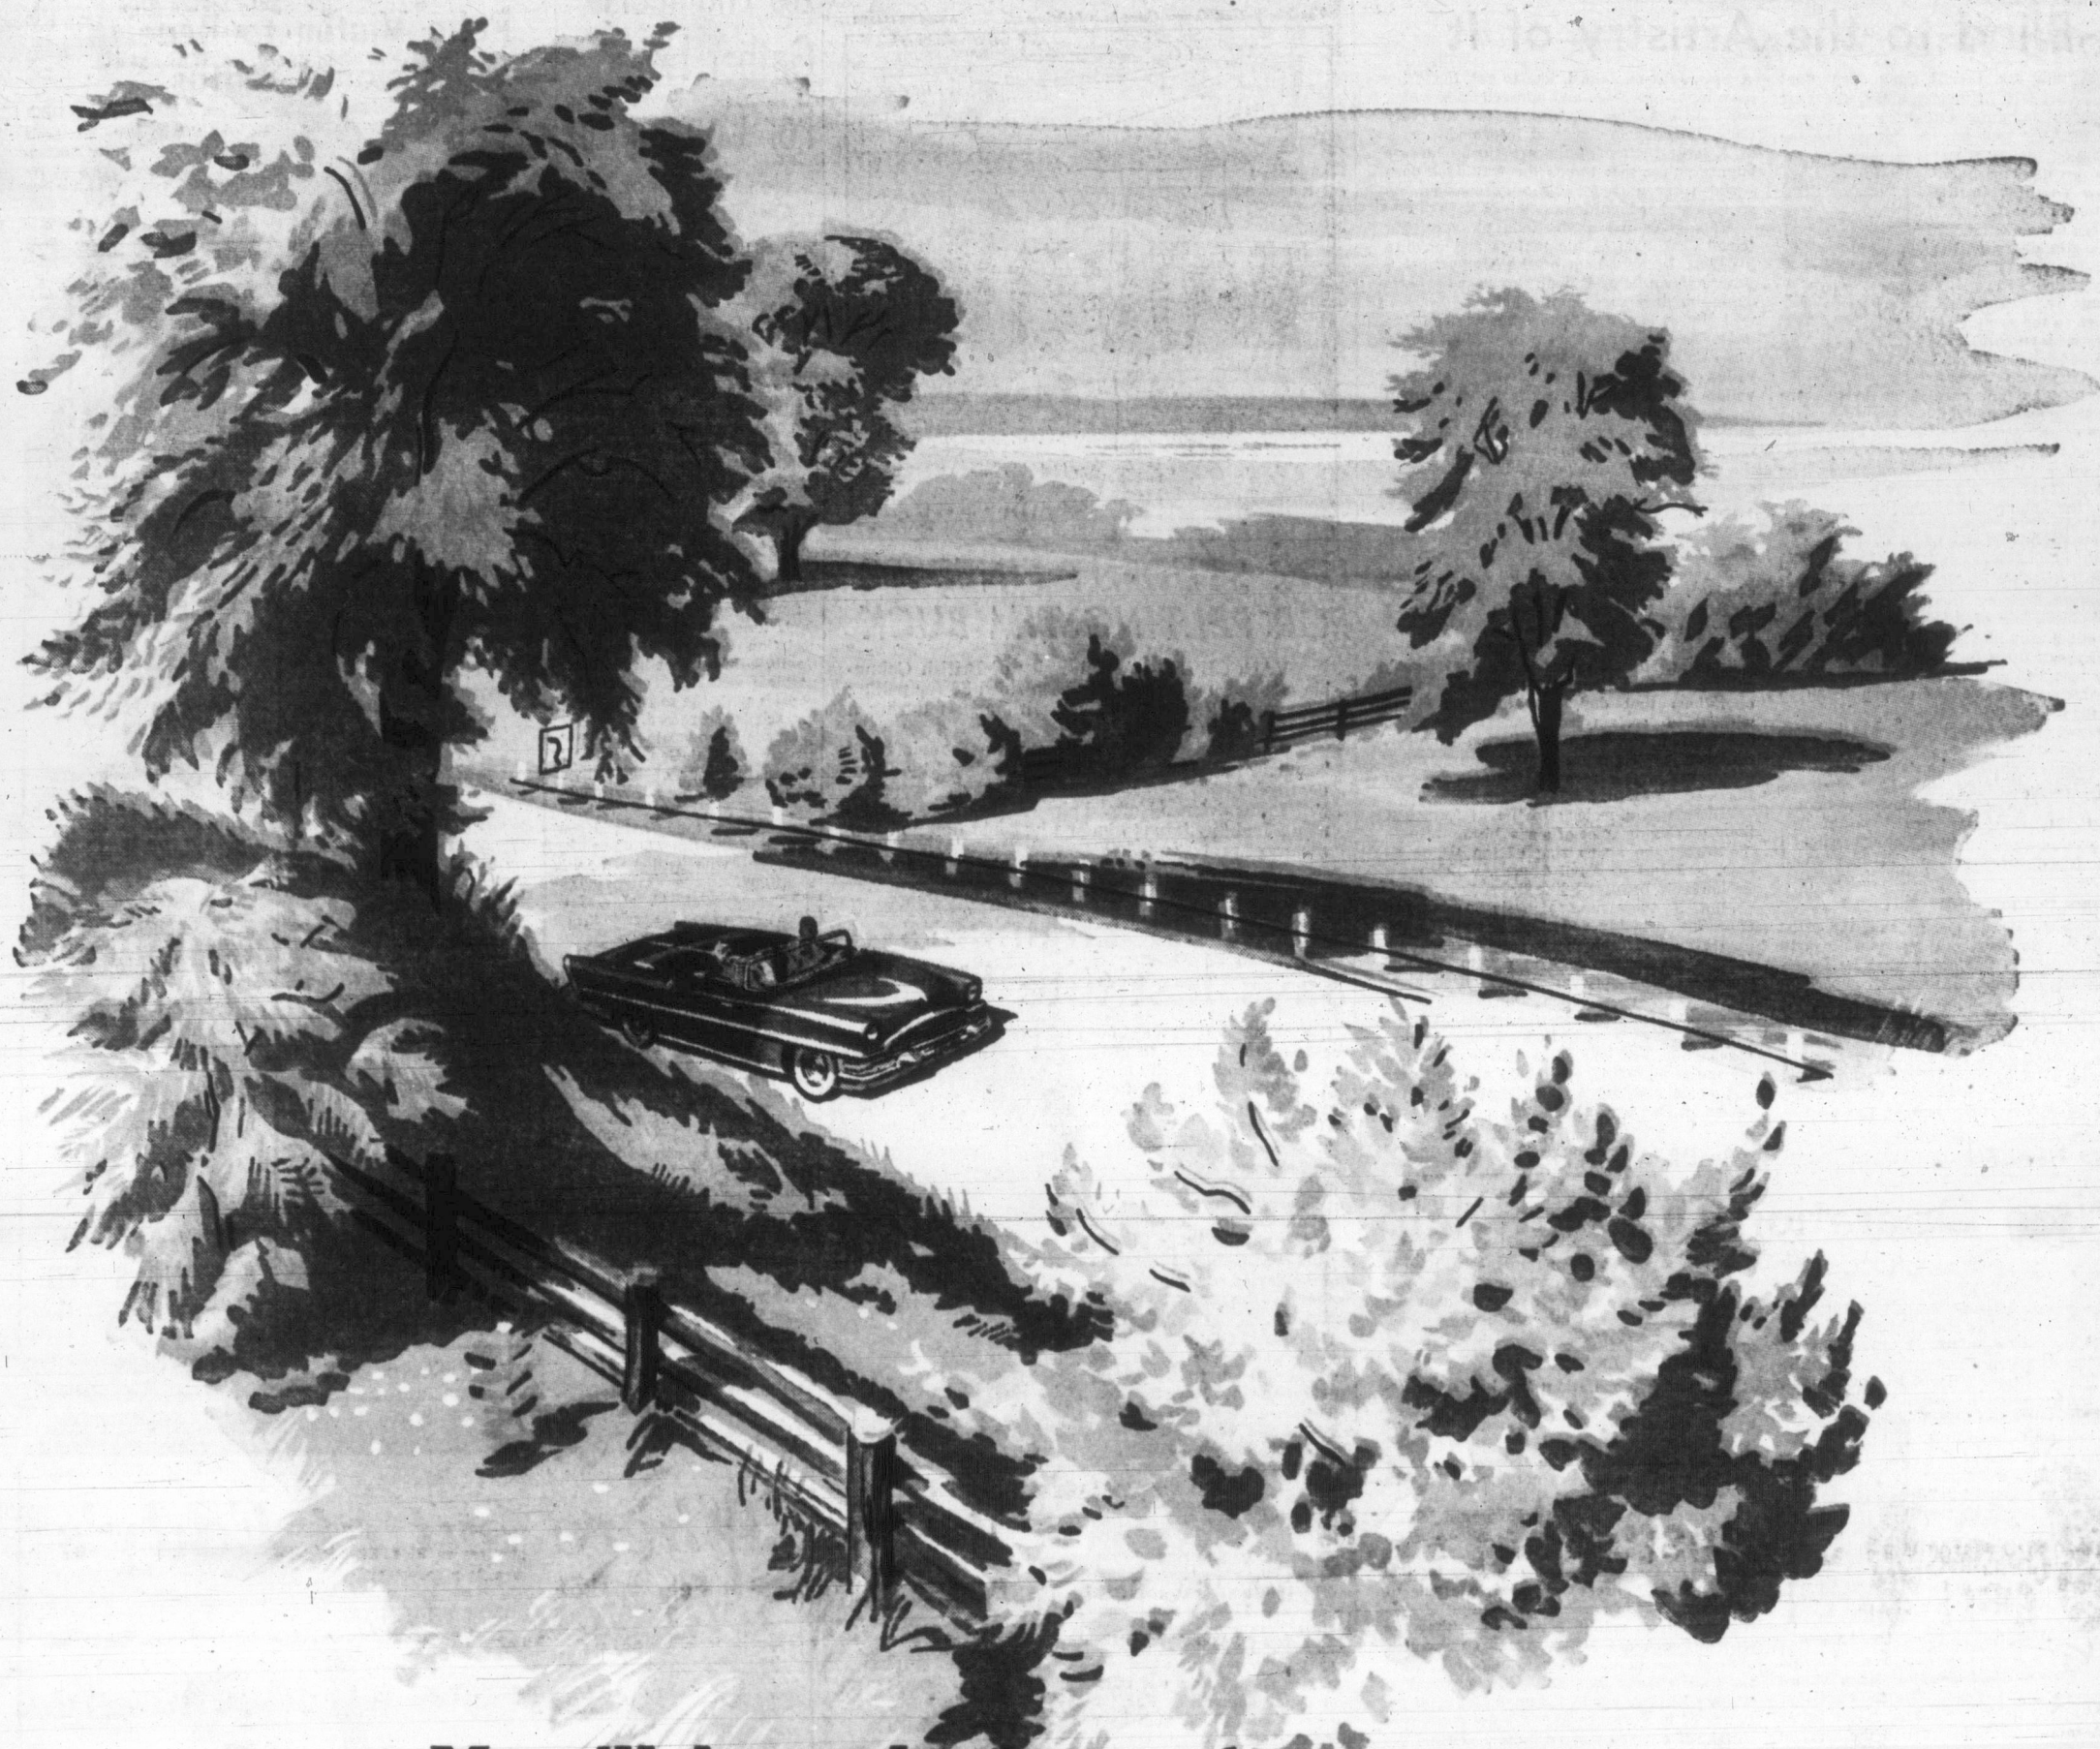

Highlight of the convention will be an address at luncheon Saturday by guest speaker Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, federal minister of trade and commerce.

Induction of next year's president, J. E. Liersch, vice-president of the Powell River Co., who served as association vice-president this year, will take place Saturday afternoon.

Special awards made at today's luncheon included the association gold medal to F. S. Death, UBC student in his graduating year of engineering physics with the most outstanding scholastic record.

Letson Memorial prize, presented by Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Letson in honor of his father, was awarded N. L. Williams, now on loan by B.C. Electric Co. to the Chalk River atomic development plant for research, who will be unable to attend.

Four special T. Ingledown prizes from the vice-president of the B.C. Electric Co. went today to UBC engineering undergraduates for proficiency. They are W

"PRESTONE" Anti-Freeze this fall!

"Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze gives you a warmer, smoother running engine this winter... a cooler, smoother running engine next summer!

The anti-freeze you buy this fall will have a lot to do with the shape your car's engine will be in next summer. You see, the majority of summer engine overheating problems are caused by incomplete anti-freeze protection against serious engine hazards of winter driving. In other words, a modern car's cooling system needs far more than just freeze-up protection during the cold months ahead to avoid the expense of serious cooling system damage.

"Prestone" Anti-Freeze is the one brand developed to give complete protection. In addition to providing a positive safe-guard against freeze-up and a superior soluble corrosion inhibitor, "Prestone" Anti-Freeze coats the entire surface of the cooling system with a thin, rugged, protective film. This special Polar Film inhibitor protects the cooling system against rust formation, acid action and deterioration.

"Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze keeps your car's cooling system clean and free of rust so your engine can run at more efficient temperatures... operate more smoothly this winter. And, because your engine has complete cold weather protection this winter, it'll be a cooler, smoother running engine... give you more miles per gallon next summer*. So, insist on "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. You'll be glad this winter and next summer, too.

*For peak performance next summer, drain your anti-freeze in the spring and replace it with water and rust inhibitor, as recommended by all automotive authorities.

REMEMBER...there's only one "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze

It's time for "Prime"

GAS LINE ANTI-FREEZE

"Prime" Gas Line Anti-Freeze and Conditioner protects every inch of your car's fuel system from freezing... stops engine stalls caused by carburetor icing—a problem in modern cars even at temperatures 20 degrees above freezing... Prevents corrosion from water condensation, winter and summer. Use a can with every tankful of gas!

A word of CAUTION

No matter what anybody tells you—there's only one "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. There's no other anti-freeze like it. Insist on "Prestone" Brand... and you can get it... anywhere!

Scurrah Promises Road Improvements

Mayorality candidate Percy B. Scurrah added another plank to his 12-point platform Thursday night.

He promised Victoria West residents their streets would get fair attention.

He accepted an invitation from the audience of about 25, to "tour the ruts" Saturday.

He reiterated his stand on the Point Ellice bridge—that it could be built immediately without aid from senior governments or passage of a money bill.

He said one alderman should be given the job of supervising sales of marketable city lands to ensure an income for the bridge.

The candidate said that government property, non-taxable, is increasing in area, and called for a statutory grant in place of the present $30,000 capital city beautification grant, which can be decreased or dropped any time.

Magistrate to Rule On High Court Trial

Magistrate Henry C. Hall will rule in Saanich police court next Thursday on a request by defence counsel that Bhag Singh, 2550 Vancouver, be allowed to elect for trial in a higher court.

Singh is jointly charged with Nelson Hutchinson, Royal Olympic Hotel, of possessing burglary tools on Nov. 26.

Both appeared in police court last Saturday, when they pleaded not guilty and elected for trial in police court.

Defence counsel James Proudfoot asked that Singh be allowed to take a preliminary hearing in police court.

Hutchinson appeared without counsel. He did not change his election.

Both men were arrested early last Saturday and bail has been set at $5,000 each.

William II and Mary II reigned as joint British monarchs from 1689, Mary dying in 1694 and William in 1702.

would be an improved system of sea dumping, he said.

Mr. Scurrah said he would press for repeal of road and poll tax and free use of parks for amateur sports.

He called the outgoing council an "earnest, sincere, hard-working bunch of men who have been stopped and frustrated by legal technicalities."

The meeting was also attended by aldermanic candidates.

New Hospital Object Of Island Plebiscite

GANGES—Landowners of the Gulf Islands will vote Dec. 8 on a money by-law to provide construction of a new hospital to replace the 41-year-old Lady Minto hospital here.

The money, covering one-third of the cost, will be in the form of a loan from the provincial government, repayable over a period of 20 years. Combined grants from the provincial and federal governments will make up the other two-thirds of the total cost, which is estimated at $272,485.

Chief islands in the new hospital improvement district are Salt Spring, Galiano, North and South Pender, Mayne and Saturna. They represent approximately 1,700 landowners who, if they present themselves at the polls, will be entitled to vote next Thursday.

24 BEDS PROPOSED

The proposed new hospital, designed by Whittaker and Wagg, Victoria architects, is a one-story concrete building allowing for 24 adult and children's beds, and providing the most modern facilities for surgical and medical care.

There will be a separate staff residence of stucco and frame construction.

The new hospital will be erected on a site above Ganges harbor on Salt Spring Island, and close to the wharves and aircraft floats. An offer has been made by the present hospital board to subsidize a sea-going ambulance service.

Cramped accommodation and outmoded facilities in the old hospital were reasons why a new plant was proposed some time ago, and this year, a hospital improvement district was formed, administered by a

Haslam Creek Hunter Kills Timber Wolf

LADYSMITH—A wolf weighing from 65 to 70 pounds was shot Thursday morning in Haslam Creek canyon, seven miles north of here, by John Tietzykowski while on a hunting trip.

Cpl. W. Morrison, RCMP, who examined the animal here, said it was a timber wolf, but not fully grown. Witnesses described it as the same size as a full-grown Alsatian dog but heavier.

Wolves are known to be prevalent in that area between Chemainus river and Nanaimo lakes, that includes the headwaters of Haslam creek.

Herring Harvest Down Two-Thirds

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia waters this year have yielded 27,634 tons of herring, compared with 73,800 tons at the same time last year. Ninety per cent of the catch was made on the lower east coast, inside Vancouver Island.

BCFP Willing To Purchase Crofton Water

DUNCAN—Reeve C. A. P. Muri-son informed a meeting of Crofton ratepayers Tuesday that B.C. Forest Products Ltd. would be willing to pay $3,500 a year for two years for water from Crofton's system, after which the company would draw its water supply by a 50-inch pipeline from Cowichan Lake.

The company's demands on Crofton's water system would not exceed 150,000 gallons daily. When the pipeline is completed it will provide the proposed pulp mill with up to 25,000,000 gallons daily from Cowichan Lake, he said.

At the same time the reeve announced a by-law would be presented to withdraw the mill site from the Crofton fire protection area.

However, BCFP is willing to donate $1,000 annually to the Crofton fire department even though the company will not be calling on the volunteer brigade for protection.

First Contract Let for B.C.'s Gas Pipeline

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—First contract for actual pipeline construction on the $150,000,000 line to bring gas from the Peace River area to the coast has been awarded by Westcoast Transmission Company.

The contract was awarded Duffon Williams Bros. Ltd. of Calgary for the laying of pipe between Taylor flat on the peace river to Asquith lake, a distance of 120 miles.

Construction camps are being established near the confluence of the Peace and Pine rivers.

Pipe for the northern end of the line will be delivered early in January at railhead via Edmonton.

Westcoast has purchased almost one-third of its 30-inch diameter pipe from Britain at a cost of $12,000,000.

The pipeline, to carry gas from fields in northern British Columbia and Alberta, will run from the Peace River area to Sumas, B.C., on the B.C.-Washington state border, a distance of 650 miles. Feeder-lines will take it to B.C. communities and into the northwest United States. The line is scheduled to be finished by 1957.

Voyles' Grid Future Unknown

HAMILTON (CP)—The football future of Carl Voyles remained unknown Thursday night after a press conference at which it was expected he would announce his plans for 1956.

Voyles, whose three-year contract as coach and general manager of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, of the Big Four Football Union, ends Monday, said he has not talked with Ticat officials about a new agreement.

He declined to comment on reports of a contract offer from British Columbia Lions.

Voyles said he is not interested in returning to the Ticats "unless the club is set up on a more business-like basis."

Voyles, who has been coach and general manager of the Ticats for six years, said he thinks a "centralized authority" would be desirable for any professional football team.

Earlier this week, Ticat president Jake Gaudaur said the matter of signing a coach will be up to the club's 1956 executive.

Sentence will be imposed in Saanich police court next Thursday on Vernon Rhoule, 18, 1513 Eva, charged with breaking and entering and theft Nov. 27 at 1579 Hawthorne.

Rhoule pleaded guilty to the charge Thursday.

Police said the accused stole $250 worth of carpenter's tools. A 14-year-old boy is also being held in the same case.

BILL WALKER—Sports Editor

10 Victoria Daily Times FRIDAY, DEC. 2, 1955

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER

The end of the week, almost. Edmonton Eskimos proved the shortest distance between two points isn't always a straight line or, in the case of football, the overhead passage.

Similarly, the Army football team playing against Navy, in the United States big attraction of that day, won the game without completing even one forward pass.

But let's not go overboard on this thing. Teams aren't going to toss out their forward passing aces, just because Edmonton won a football game.

The basic concept of football is still to get points the easiest and quickest way. Providing always, of course, that you can get them.

Coach Peahead Walker figured early, and he figured right, that the Als couldn't gain consistently against the Eskos on the ground.

He also found that Sam Etcheverry could riddle the Edmonton pass defence with strikes. He told Sam to keep firing. Sam did.

And in the sober retrospect of studious conjecture today, less than one week later, there wasn't one thing wrong with Walker's strategy. Not when a fellow hits 30 for 39, like Etcheverry did.

Yes, despite what reports you may read to the contrary—the forward pass is here to stay.

And just so long as a fellow like Etcheverry is throwing, the fans will stick around, and so will the team.

Ask Jackie Parker of the Eskos. He knocked down one pass and intercepted another, either, or both, of which could have shed a different hue on the champagne bubbles in the post-game party.

The Eskos just did it the hard way, that's all; and more power to 'em for doing it that way.

Perhaps the Cougars could take a leaf out of the Eskos' book too. In football, you gotta get the ball out of your own end before you can score.

Hockey, it seems, isn't much different.

And why all this storm about no "Victoria" float in the Grey Cup parade.

To anyone who was there, the "Victoria" float was plainly visible.

It was behind the "Saanich" float and in front of the "Oak Bay" float.

Six fans or, as the story said, six (6) . . . well, that's how big a sport basketball is at present. That's the total paid admissions at Tuesday night's senior B game here. The sport is in deep trouble.

Reason enough, we suppose, why Alberni Athletics were discreetly declined an exhibition appearance here this weekend.

Come now, folks, surely there are more loving fans in town than that.

Is Victoria the all-fire sports joint it used to be?

English rugby is in the same boat; nobody loves 'em anymore. Tonight the rugby lads will meet to see if they can figure out why.

Doug Fletcher of the Island Hockey League has long since stopped figuring. He's just hoping from new on.

Add Cougars' managing director Fred Hutchinson to the panel and the picture is crystal clear.

Sport fans just aren't doing what they used to do.

Maybe everybody should take up tiddlywinks—then the non-players can watch television too.

We mean it!

SKI HEIL!

Crusty Slopes Turn Novices Into Addicts

Skiers who tried their luck around the southern Island last weekend found good hunting in their search for snow.

Renfrew Road had a good foot of skiable snow and after six enthusiasts packed the crusty slope down, an enjoyable session was had by all.

Those who trekked into Mount Brenton were well-rewarded. Around the Sno-Birds' cabin there was a fantastic (for November) four feet of snow—dry, soft powder that was so perfect for skiing the novices were converted to addicts over the weekend. Almost as much snow is expected this weekend.

Anyone interested in either day skiing or weekend skiing can join the organized trips by registering at 905 Government Street or with Bud Peetz, 574 Johnson Street.

Totems Meet Pedagogues

A basketball seminar, replete with teachers and students, will be held in Victoria High School's gym tonight when Vic High Totems meet Pedagogues in an exhibition basketball game at 8.30.

The Pedagogues, who have won their first two games, consist of members of the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association. Included in the line-up is Totem coach George Andrews.

In the 7.30 preliminary, Totem's "B" team plays Chinese Students.

SPOKANE, Wash. — Vince Martines, 149½, Paterson, N.J. knocked out Ernie Greer, 148, Oakland, Calif. (3).

ROSE, Idaho—Mickey Rhodes, 160, Boise, knocked out Willie Stevens, 162½, Reno (7).

Ray Won't 'Run,' He Says; 'Feels Right' for Title Bout

CHICAGO (BUP)—Ray Robinson arrived today to complete training for his middleweight title fight with champion Carl "Bobo" Olson and quickly shrugged off rumors that he had any idea of "running out" on the bout.

"I don't know why people say those things about me," he said plaintively. "I've been fighting for 16 years and I never gave people a bad fight.

Cougars 'Gotta Go' Tonight, or Next Week

By BILL WALKER

One week ago tonight Fred Hutchinson said:

"Someone's gotta go."

Hutchinson was speaking of the Victoria Cougar hockey club.

He was speaking as that club's managing director.

He was speaking of the club's recent lack of success and what must be done to compensate for those habits.

"It isn't so much the losing that hurts," Hutchinson has said, "but the manner in which the defeats have come about."

Today his adjectives have the same pungent tone. They are unprintable.

But not so is the fact that he hasn't varied from that thought of last Friday.

The wheels have been turning.

Phone calls to Lynn Patrick of the Boston Bruins and to the Hershey Club of the American Hockey Club, plus other unannounced centres, have been a daily routine.

"I would like to announce something definite today, but I can't," he said.

"But I can say this," he added: "Three new players are my objective."

He declined to name the positions for which the players are sought. But he didn't have to. The obvious fact that the Cougars have not been scoring goals in a quantity consistent with success, means that additional forward aid is the prime need.

"A centre, yes—we need a centre," said Hutchinson when queried. The other two require ments could be a pair of wingers to go with that other pivot man.

Asked to name players, Hutchinson said: "I don't think I have to; they know themselves who are on the spot."

Queried as to "when?" the axe may fall, Hutchinson replied curtly:

"By Monday at Winnipeg, I hope."

Partial answers may be obtained to some of the questions tonight when the Cougars face Vancouver Canucks at Memorial Arena.

Only one line remains intact from previous contests—the Coln Kilburn-Doug Anderson-Doug Macauley threesome, which has 33 goals out of the club total of 65.

The other lines tonight will have rookie Don Chipuka as a pivot for Ray Ceresino and Wayne Brown, and Skip Teal at centre between coach Eddie Olson and Mark Marquess.

Monday the Cougars start their first prairie invasion at Winnipeg. They play at Regina, Tuesday; Saskatoon, Wednesday; Edmonton, Friday; Calgary, Saturday, and Vancouver one week from Monday. They then return home again against the Warriors Tuesday.

And to make certain that any impressions gained here are not prejudicial, Hutchinson has asked for and received the assurance that Boston scout Harold Cotton will view the club for the first three days on the prairies.

At any rate, this morning Hutchinson had not deterred from his previous assertion: "Someone's gotta go."

Gotta-go time tonight is 8.30.

Tire Trio Torrid

Walt Acreman, Vince Clarkson and Norm Baker parlayed a three-man total of 48 points Thursday night as they led Dickinson & Dunn to a 62-45 victory over Nomads in a Senior B Basketball League game at Central Junior High School.

The victory was the fifth straight for the undefeated Double D's while Nomads tumbled to their fifth loss.

Acreman, reserve bucketman, funneled in 17 points to take top scoring honors while playing coach Baker had 16 points and Clarkson added 15.

Ronnie Martin topped Nomads with 12 points.

Dickinson & Dunn had trouble with the hustling Nomads in the first half and could manage only a four-point lead, 29-25, at the half.

But after the intermission, Double D's pulled away, firing in 11 points without a replay late in the game.

Nomads finished the game with only four players as three men fouled out.

In preliminary games, Eaglettes downed Cordova Bay, 24-22, in a bantam girls' game, and Eaglettes pre-midnight girls walloped Cordova Bay, 40-5.

THE ROYAL FAMILY OF SQUASH

The best in the world appeared in Victoria briefly Thursday and left behind them a deeply impressed group of squash fanatics. Left to right, Azzam, Rashan and Hashiem Khan, all of Pakistan, demonstrated at Victoria Squash Club courts the form that has made them world champions. (See story).

Racketeers, Maybe, But World's Best in Squash

By TONY DICKSON

Wound up briefly chatting with a couple of the world's best-known racketeers Thursday.

Only, being on the cultural level of squash, these gentlemen are designated "racketeers."

Hashiem, 42; Azzam, 29, and Rashan, 27, are the trio from the mysterious east who rate one, two and three on the squash courts of the world, in order named. They come from Pakistan. Last name of all is Khan.

Hashiem has been batting balls since the age of 10. The last five years he's been the world's champion.

"Yes," he said sibilantly, "one slows down after 35. My speed has dropped a bit, and my weight has gone up. In 1951 I weighed eight stone, now I'm 10½; just age does it."

The threesome played exhibition games in the Victoria squash courts Thursday, helping loosen the mid-frame bulges of several well-known local players.

Today they are slated for a four-day visit to Vancouver for more exhibition games, and then to Minneapolis for—that's right, more squash!

Hashiem—he was the only one we could talk with as his companions were bouncing around in squash shoes and shorts at such a dreadful rate—said he'd never lost a championship game in his life in the English game category.

Apparently there's a U.S.-type game also, the kind played here. This he prefers. The game, that is.

"Great way to stay in shape," wheezed one bystander, groping for another cigarette.

Wallace Denies 'Slow-Pill' Charge

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coley Wallace, New York heavyweight Mansfield, deputy attorneys general, Thursday appeared before the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission and denied he ever said he was doped by a slow pill that dulled his reflexes during a bout.

The commission opened what it termed "an investigatory hearing" into Wallace's fight Oct. 1, 1954, with Bob Baker, Pittsburgh heavyweight, in Cleveland. It claims the right to investigate a Cleveland fight because Wallace and his manager, Frank Blinky Palermo, were licensees of the Pennsylvania commission.

Hebert S. Levin and Joseph Wallace, New York attorneys general, were present to assist commissioners Alfred Klein and Paul G. Sullivan in conducting the hearing. Wallace was accompanied by an attorney from New York, appropriately named Boxer Bert H. Klein said earlier in the week that the purpose of the hearing was to determine whether Palermo was guilty of any acts "debatable because Wallace and his manager, Frank Blinky Palermo, were licensees of the Pennsylvania commission."

Minor Baseball Rejects Change in Bonus Rule

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—The minor leagues Thursday voted down all proposals to change the baseball bonus rule.

That means that the present rule, which places two-year restrictions on all kids who are paid more than $4,000 for signing a contract, will continue in effect.

There had been proposals to install a rule whereby all bonus players would be subject to unrestricted draft after one season in the minors.

The major leagues will act upon the same legislation at their meetings in Chicago next week, but they cannot change the bonus rule for 1956 because both the majors and minors must act in concert on all such legislation.

Under the bonus rule, as it now stands, every player signed for more than $4,000, such as Al Kaline of the Tigers, Frank Leja and Tom Carroll of the Yankees, Paul Giel and Joey Amalfitano of the Giants, Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers and various others, are frozen to major league rosters for a two-year period.

They cannot be optioned to a minor league club, for if that occurs they become subject to selection in the draft.

The proposal by Gabe Paul of the Cincinnati Redlegs to

Three Rugby Games Billed

The Victoria Rugby Union has scheduled three games this Saturday as the season swings into high gear.

In first division action, JBAA Whites will take on Victoria College Vikings at upper Macdonald Park at 2.30 while JBAA Blues meet Oak Bay Wanderers at the same time on the lower field.

On the upper field at HMCS Naden, Navy will meet Victoria College in a second division match at 2.30.

HALECOS RATES HIGH

Straths Face Tricky Problem

When Victoria Strathconas meet Vancouver Halecos in Coast Soccer League action at Athletic Park Saturday, they will face a pot-pourri of Coast League stars.

Halecos have a strong line-up as the result of a complete rebuilding job. They have a core of young players, steadied by several established CSL veterans.

In goal will be Mike Puhach, who has played most of his soccer for Varsity.

A pair of real veterans, Jackie Cowan and Norm Guistini, will be at the fullback positions. Guistini, starting his seventh year in the CSL.

Three other teams are represented on the half line. Frank Noga, who put in four years as a St. Andrews fullback, has been converted to right half while a former Vancouver City fullback, George Bogdanovich, will be at centre half. At left half will be Jack Steele, who formerly patrolled a fullback position for St. Andrews.

VETERAN RETURNS At centre forward will be Bill Popowich, returning after a two-year retirement. Popowich has appeared in dominion play-downs for St. Andrews, New Westminster and Vancouver City and should supply a solid anchor in the forward line.

Inside forwards will be former Vancouver District League player Sid Gorrie and 18-year-old Bob Bruce.

On the wings will be Dick Ainsworth, an 18-year-old up from the juvenile ranks, and 18-year-old Dave Patterson.

Sparers are veteran Ray Dixon, former Royals player Ken Campbell and 17-year-old Norm McLeod.

Game time Saturday is 2.30.

RIDICULES REF

Skinner Set for Skinning?

TORONTO (CP)—Jimmy Skinner, coach of Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, may be paying for saying.

Skinner Wednesday night charged NHL referee Red Storey with "prejudice" and having "no guts" after a 3-3 tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

National Hockey League books say it's worth $1,000 to criticize an official.

What burned Skinner up was that a goal in the second period wasn't allowed. Earl Reibel fired a shot that caromed off Ted Lindsay's foot and trickled between the legs of goalie Harry Lumley.

As Skinner saw it, referee Storey was going to allow the goal but changed his mind when intimidated by a charging Lumley.

Had the goal been allowed, and the scoring remained the same, Red Wings would have broken a fourth place tie with Leafs in league standings.

Jersey Fans To See Bums

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers and mayor Bernard Berry reached an agreement Thursday under which the world champion baseball team will play seven National League games in Roosevelt Stadium here in each of the next three seasons. An exhibition game also will be played in Jersey City.

know the score on sport!

IN HOCKEY, the top players travel about 3 miles per game at an average speed of approximately 9 m.p.h. In bursts they reach speeds of 26 to 27 m.p.h. Goalkeepers need top reflexes since hard shooters propel the puck at between 110 and 120 m.p.h. Most goals are scored on low shots propelled at about 15 to 20 feet from the goal.

Nashua Nominated For Santa Anita 'Cap'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP).—Belair Stud's Nashua, second in winnings among American thoroughbreds has been nominated for the Santa Anita Handicap. Jim Fitzsimmons, Nashua's trainer, said Thursday he had asked that Nashua be nominated for the rich Santa Anita race "in case he is sold to anybody in California."

Russians Ready for Canada? Score Third Win in Britain

LONDON (CP).—A Russian team composed largely of members of the squad that finished second to Canada in last winter's world hockey championships swept its three-game British tour by edging Wembley Lions 3-2 Thursday night. The Lions, like Harringay Racers, whom the Russians defeated 11-1 and 5-4 last week, are a professional club composed almost entirely of expatriate Canadians.

A goal by Eugeny Babich, a world tournament veteran, with three minutes left, decided the issue Thursday night. Some 8,000 fans braved a foggy London night to watch the contest in Wembley's Empire Pool, where a huge Soviet flag hung over the entire ice.

Frank Chiarelli, of Ottawa, gave the Lions an early lead but Russia retaliated with two fast goals by Nikolai Sologubov and Alexei Guryshchev. The game got livelier—and rougher—in the second period when the Lions began using Canadian-type bodychecks. Two Soviet players were dumped so stiffly by hard checks that they were carried off the ice.

The Lions' tough but fair tactics seemed to disorganize the slick Russian pattern playing. Midway, Chic Zamick of Winnipeg, Lions' playing coach, flicked a loose puck past Soviet goalkeeper Nikolai Puchkov, who also played against Pentton V's in last year's world competition. But Babich's late score put them on top and they held the lead even when the Lions pulled goalie Ron Kilbey of Kitchener, Ont.

Afterwards Zamick, disappointed at Russia's victory, said that Kitchener-Waterloo Dutch-

'MORNING SOCCER' ANSWER TO HEAT

BUENOS AIRES (AP).—Convinced it's the heat that's driving the fans wacky, Argentine soccer officials have gone night baseball one better. Argentina will have "morning soccer." It's spring in Argentina, with afternoon temperatures near the 100-degree mark. And the partisan blood of the fans has really been boiling. Out-and-out riots have broken up several games in the last three weeks. Up north, baseball fans occasionally yell "Kill the ump!" But here, they sometimes try to. So, game time now is 9.45 a.m.—in the cool of the morning.

Bridgman Cup Hockey Scheduled Saturday

The annual Bridgman Cup girls' grass hockey series, postponed last week because of wet fields, will have a revised draw when it gets under way Saturday morning at Oak Bay High School grounds.

Two teams, Mount View High School and Mount Douglas High, have withdrawn from the competition, cutting the field to eight teams in two divisions.

In one division will be St. Margaret's, Oak Bay, Victoria Ladies and Victoria High School with Norfolk House, Esquimalt, Victoria College and Queen Margaret's in the other division. Undefeated team in each division in the knockout competition will meet in a sudden-death final for the silverware at 1.

Saturday's revised draw follows:
10 a.m.—St. Margaret's vs. Oak Bay High; Norfolk House vs. Esquimalt.
10:30—Victoria Ladies vs. Victoria High; Victoria College vs. Queen Margaret's.
11:00—Norfolk House vs. Queen Margaret's; St. Margaret's vs. Victoria Ladies.
11:30—Esquimalt High vs. Queen Margaret's; Oak Bay vs. Victoria High.
12:00—St. Margaret's vs. Victoria High; Norfolk House vs. Queen Margaret's.
12:30—Esquimalt vs. Victoria College; Oak Bay vs. Victoria Ladies.
1 p.m.—Sudden-death final between section winners.

British Set 2-Handicap For Amateur

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP).—Britain's golf bosses have tightened the rules of entry into their amateur championship and announced that in future the field will be limited to 200 players.

Only players whose official handicap does not exceed two instead of three—will be eligible. The Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews, Britain's golf ruling body, also decided to make the grueling five-day tournament even tougher—though a fairer test for the twilight golfer. The early rounds of the all-match-play tournament will be played over 18 holes as usual. But the quarter-finals, semi-finals and final all will be decided over 36 holes. Previously only the final has been over 36 holes.

Danish Jockey Reaps Big Bundle for Bettors

BALTIMORE (AP).—An ex-acrobat was something of a two-ring circus at Pimlico Thursday, providing 14 two-dollar bettors with the thrill of a wagering lifetime. Jockey Bernie Sorenson, an apprentice, rode Joymaker (an apt name under the circumstances) to victory in the first race and Advice in the second for a $5,322.20 daily double—largest in Pimlico history. Joymaker, winner by a neck was a $16-to-$2 bet and Advice, who came home ahead by a length, paid $100.80 for a $2 ticket.

The payoffs, third largest in Maryland parimutuel history, probably was a record for one rider. Sorenson, a Dane, came to the U.S. four years ago with an acrobatic troupe. He rode his first U.S. race June 14, 1954, and his first winner last fall.

The daily double, however, was only about half the U.S. record—$10,772.40 on Aug. 14, 1953, at Washington Park. The Maryland record is $6,754.50 at Bowie in 1953.

Jeffcoat Changes Mind

CHICAGO (AP).—Hal Jeffcoat, relief pitcher traded by Chicago Cubs to Cincinnati Monday, changed his mind about quitting baseball Thursday and said he would fulfill "a moral responsibility" to report to the Redlegs.

Tuesday Jeffcoat, once a weak hitting outfielder, announced he would quit baseball rather than give up his Chicago insurance business.

Herron said the Indians were not dissatisfied with Lake but were giving him a release because of plans for a 1956 agreement with a Pacific Coast League club which is expected to name its own field manager at Spokane.

TORONTO (BUP).—A snow and sleet storm threatened to blow in from the West today in advance of Saturday's all-star East-West football game and training camp reports said the West might have other surprises for the East.

It all depends on quarterback Jackie Parker of the Esk. Barring an unusually severe storm, the field at Varsity Stadium will be "in good shape," stadium officials said. A tarpaulin will protect the field if necessary, and the worst it could be is hard-frozen.

The other western threat was reported from Hamilton, Ont., where the Edmonton Eskimos' coach, Pop Ivy, is training his western all-star team. While all pregame predictions pointed to a battle between the west's split-T ground attack and the east's aerial offense practised by the two top passing quarterbacks in Canadian football, Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry and Tom (Pom Pom) Dublinski, Ivy indicated his squad might pull some surprises in pass attacks as well.

The eastern all-stars, coached by the Montreal Alouettes' Doug (Peahead) Walker, planned to take it easy today after two intensive workouts on the back campus of the University of Toronto.

Ivy's western team got off to a slow training start with the late arrival of Ivy and the Eskimo contingent, making up the bulk of his team. They were delayed by Edmonton's Grey Cup victory celebration and poor flying weather.

Ivy held back no secrets during Thursday's practice session in Hamilton. Observers who expected to see him concentrate on integrating the other western players with his Eskimos on split-T tactics were surprised to find him ordering his crew into passing practice.

Indications were that the east-west game would be not entirely a battle between eastern air tactics and western ground tactics.

Latest report from the western encampment in Hamilton is that their quarterback, Jackie Parker, is battling a heavy cold and the 'flue bug.

SERIES BY HIS VALET

Hitler's Private Life

Hitler spared when bomb shattered others. Fuehrer came to believe destiny had marked him to survive

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright, 1955)

Now I come to the last attempt on Hitler's life, as I saw it.

On July 20, Mussolini was expected at Rastenburg, the Eastern front headquarters, and I had gone with Generaloberst Doernberg, Hitler's chief of protocol, and several other staff officers to discuss the arrangements for Il Duce's visit.

As I stood talking to Doernberg, we heard the sound of an explosion. We continued chatting, thinking a stray dog had exploded one of the land mines which surrounded headquarters.

I suppose we were about 100 yards away when the explosion occurred, and it was only some few minutes later when I was told Hitler wanted me. I immediately left the reception party and on the way met Major von Freyend. His face was bleeding. He said, "The Fuehrer is alive. He is in his bunker."

I broke into a run. When I reached Hitler's side, he was sitting in a chair, his trousers and jacket in tatters, his hair burned. Dr. Hasselbach was bent over Hitler removing wood splinters from his legs.

UNDER SUSPICION

Hitler looked up at me with a piercing stare, which fixed on me for a minute or two. Later I knew he was wondering if I, too, was against him. When he satisfied himself that I had no part in the affair, he said: "They've tried to kill me, Linge. Even in this bunker there may be explosives all around. See to it that all the floors and walls are examined immediately."

I went at once to give the order to the criminal police.

Once the doctor finished bandaging Hitler's legs, he changed his clothes with my help. When he finished I went to the room where the explosion had taken place. There was nothing there geant has an interesting story to tell you." Adam repeated his story to Hitler.

When Adam finished, Hitler turned to his adjutant, Colonel von Below and asked, "Who sent von Stauffenberg here?"

Told it was Generaloberst Fromm, Hitler shouted: "Then I know now it was Stauffenberg who was responsible for the explosion."

If Hitler needed confirmation of the suspicions planted in his mind by Sergeant Adam, he soon had it. During the search of the debris, a pair of pliers with peculiar grips were discovered. It was then recalled that von Stauffenberg had been crippled in the hands during the desert war, and the pliers had been made so he could use them.

He had taken the explosives into the room in an attache case which he carefully placed against the leg of the table where Hitler was supposed to sit.

General Korten, who was standing alongside Hitler, had both legs blown off and died almost at once. General Schmundt had a leg and an arm blown off and died after four days in hospital. The short plot.

hand writer sitting directly opposite Hitler lost both legs and died soon after. Nearly everyone else, in addition to wounds, had their eardrums burst. Keitel and Jodl both suffered damaged eardrums. Gueneche was blown clear out of a window.

Describing later what had happened, Hitler told me:

"I was leaning on the table, which fortunately had a thick top. I had my right arm forward across the table because I was marking a map when the explosion happened. I was thrown into the air as the table-top was blown up. I found that I was burned and injured about the legs."

Undoubtedly the tabletop saved Hitler's life. Had it been thinner Hitler would have taken the full force of the explosion in the upper part of his body.

It later transpired that von Stauffenberg stayed in the camp waiting to hear the sound of the explosion. Immediately afterwards he went straight to an exit where he was held up by the guard.

He ordered the sentry to send for an officer, to whom he said, "You know my plane is waiting for me. I have strict orders to take an immediate message to Generaloberst Fromm in Berlin. Let me go at once."

Next: The sequel to the bomb plot.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

Port Alberni District: Growth of the Boy Scout movement in this district was apparent in the reports given by executive members at the annual meeting.

President D. L. Furk—who was re-elected—expressed appreciation of the assistance and support of service clubs who had in many ways helped the movement. He stated that there are now 10 Cub Packs and five Scout Troops, with a new troop being formed.

District commissioner Dr. N. H. Jones commended Scouters of the district for their untiring work, and made special mention of assistant commissioner W. W. Reith, who had done so much to build the district.

Special guests were Mayor Loran Jordan and Mrs. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hodgson representing the Parksville-Qualicum district, and representatives from Rotary, Kinsmen, Lions and Gyro clubs.

At the election which followed a dinner, G. C. Jamieson was chosen for vice-president; A. D. McNicol, secretary; Munro Fraser as treasurer. Dr. Jones was re-appointed as district commissioner.

Carnarvon group: District Cubmaster Art Chamberlain invested Walter Stilwell as a leader. He was assisted by District Scoutmaster George Bennett. This pack has now 18 boys, which includes two boys who have transferred from other packs.

Third Victoria pack: Wayne Stewart and Vernon Whalen were invested as Wolf Cubs by the Akela Winnie Bennett at the last meeting. The pack was visited by Rev. Father W. Bullock from Qualicum, who is the Akela of the pack there, he played several games with the boys, and intends to bring his Sixers down for an exchange visit.

The cubs from this pack will help on Saturday morning with the "bag-o-bulbs" sale.

Royal Oak Troop held their regular meeting on Wednesday. Scoutmaster Bob Slater instructed the boys in rescue and artificial respiration methods. Fast PT games were run off and the troop notified that there would be a father and son banquet held on Dec. 14.

Windsor Park "B" Pack held a mock athletic and sports meet indoors last Tuesday evening, finishing up with a sing-song.

Oaklands troop will hold their next meeting at the "toy shop" repair depot at 1919 Douglas Street, where they will get under way for the mending and sorting toys for the Christmas hampers for boy and girls who perhaps would have to go without.

Scoutmasters on the training course don't forget the time to meet at headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street, Saturday, Dec. 3. It is 1:30 p.m. Bring your bedroll.

Victorian Ordained

Richard Grant Bracewell, son of B. C. Bracewell, former deputy minister of municipal affairs, was ordained at the Metropolitan United Church Thursday as a United Church minister.

The Victorian also was inducted as leader of the congregation of Bella Coola.

The ordination ceremony was attended by representatives and clergy from all parts of Vancouver Island. Rev. G. H. Hamilton of Vancouver, president of the B.C. United Church conference, was in charge of the service.

Mr. Bracewell was presented to the congregation by Rev. William Buckingham of Sidney and given for ordination by Rev. A. L. Anderson of Kamloops. The sermon was given by Rev. William Willan of Ocean Park.

90% Better Teeth Possible—McNeely

Fluoridated drinking water for Victoria children would ensure 90 per cent better teeth to the age of 14, Royal Jubilee Hospital chief pathologist Dr. R. G. McNeely said Thursday.

Addressing Victoria Rotary Club, Dr. McNeely said 65 per cent of all tooth decay would be eliminated, at a per capita annual cost of only 15 cents.

Claims that fluorides poison the system he termed ridiculous, pointing out that the average child would take 76 years to digest one ounce at the rate of a milligram a day.

"There are 26,000,000 people in the U.S. who drink fluoridated water and there are no ill effects," he said.

"Every dollar a family spends on fluoridation means a $35 saving in dentist fees. Let's be sensible about fluoridation. Shall we have it? The answer is up to you."

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Well, interest in the civic elections is certainly mounting to a fever peak, as was evidenced by the joint meeting held last night by Our Very Own candidates.

As I told you before, Our Very Own candidates have been planning to hold a joint meeting as soon as a suitable joint could be secured, and fortunately this was achieved through the co-operation of a butcher from over 'ome who had precisely the joint they were seeking.

Our Very Own candidates made an impressive picture as they appeared on the platform. Reading from right to left (I know that's backward, but so are Our Very Own candidates) they were: Elmer Fydd, Elmer Fudd, Elmer Fodd, Elmer Fidd, Elmer Fedd, and Elmer Fadd.

The mounting interest in the civic elections was evidenced by the crowd which attended the meeting. In addition to your reporter, the crowd consisted of Mrs. Fadd, Mrs. Fedd, Mrs. Fidd, Mrs. Fodd, and Mrs. Fudd. (Mrs. Fydd could not be present, as she was baby-sitting for the other wives.)

Mr. Fadd, the first speaker, was roundly applauded by the enthusiastic audience when he said, if elected, he would see to it that everything was looked into very thoroughly from all angles and even curves before anything was done which should or should not be done, in his opinion.

Mr. Fedd also drew an ovation with this statement: "If elected, I will eliminate all secret meetings of committees. Every committee meeting will be open to all, with the exception of the press and the public."

Mr. Fidd said it was an awful shame Victoria didn't have a float in the Grey Cup parade, and if elected, HE would put a float in the Grey Cup parade, even if it were only an ice cream float.

Mr. Fodd said it was an awful shame Victoria didn't have a TEAM in the Grey Cup GAME, and if elected, he would see Something Was Done about it.

Mr. Fudd said it was an awful shame Victoria didn't WIN the Grey Cup, although he wasn't sure what Victoria would do with a grey cup if it had one, what with all the wonderful china on sale in the Victoria's antique stores and it just so happened in his own place of Business there was a set of . . .

Mr. Fydd said it was an awful shame.

And just to prove what I said about mounting interest in the elections is true, the audience all pledged to get out and vote on election day.

So you can be sure Mrs. Fadd to Fydd, inclusive, will be voting.

All we have to do now is to find out whether the other 20,699 registered voters in Victoria intend to vote on Dec. 8 or complain later.

Including, maybe, you?

Construction is scheduled to start early in 1956 on a new hydrographic survey wharf for Victoria's Inner Harbor.

Tenders for the project are returnable January 1, and award of a contract will follow in "a few weeks."

The wharf will be constructed next to the Department of Transport wharf. Original tenders for the project were discarded and new tenders called with a change in specifications.

Oak Bay council Thursday approved borrowing of $200,000 to meet costs of local improvement projects in that municipality.

A three-story $120,000 apartment block containing 15 suites will be constructed by A. K. Smalley at 1318 Beach Drive, in Oak Bay.

Building permit was issued this week.

Excavation was slated to begin today.

Fine of $30 or five days in jail was imposed in city police court Thursday on John Raymond Simpson, 198 Beach Drive, when he appeared on a charge of driving without a licence.

More than $500 was made at a Victoria Symphony women's committee rummage sale Wednesday at Jameson Motors showrooms.

Proceeds will be turned over to the symphony orchestra. This season's sale was convened by Mrs. J. Barraclough and Miss Irene Sparks.

Mrs. H. V. Hummel, 1020 St. Charles, stated today she was not heading a delegation when she attended a city finance meeting Thursday as reported earlier. She says she opposed the granting of a nursing home licence at a nearby address because she did not wish to see washing hung out, but she was not responsible for other objections listed by the delegation—that old people would be looking out the windows, or that parking would be restricted by visiting cars.

Japan Looking At Long-Term Island Ore Deal

Proven Reserves In Quatsino Area

Quatsino Copper-Gold Mines Ltd. is negotiating long-term contracts with Japanese steel interests for the sale of high-grade magnetite iron ore from its Vancouver Island property, the Times learned today.

This follows the recent negotiation of short-term contracts by Japanese steel interests for iron ore for immediate delivery from Texas Island.

"Both European and Japanese steel concerns are showing an interest in B.C. coast deposits," a spokesman for the company said.

"We have proven reserves of magnetite iron ore in our deposit near tidewater in the Quatsino Sound area. Tests have shown that these reserves are of good grade with only negligible impurities."

The spokesman said American sources are predicting an increase in the price of iron ore during the coming year.

Eight Accidents Here On Safe-Driving Day

City Records Six Mishaps, Saanich Two But Nobody Hurt; Other Areas Crash-Free

Victoria had the largest total with six mishaps during the day, while Saanich police attended two accidents.

Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Colwood and Sidney all claimed clean records.

First accident here during the international safety day occurred at Broughton and Douglas at about 9 a.m. with a car and a truck involved.

City police were called out at about 2.30 p.m. when an auto driven north on Blanshard by Bruce G. Parker, 936 Rockland, collided with a truck being backed out of a driveway on Blanshard by Louis K. King, 2532 Blanshard. Damage was slight.

Ottawa Boosts Esquimalt Aid

Tax Help Up $30,000

Federal government's grant to the Municipality of Esquimalt in lieu of taxes on federal property will be increased between $30,000 and $40,000, Liberal MP for Victoria, Dr. F. T. Fairley, announced today.

Dr. Fairley said he has been informed by Finance Minister Walter Harris that "beginning with the year 1955," Esquimalt will receive "between $70,000 and $80,000 annually."

The Victoria MP described the news as "a good Christmas present to Esquimalt."

Dr. Fairley said the federal grant has been set at $42,000 for the past three years.

The increase is made possible by issuing the grant under the Municipal Grants Act, and not as formerly under the Rural Municipal Grants Regulations.

INTERIM PAYMENT "Calculation of the exact amount of this year's grant cannot be completed until early next year," said Dr. Fairley, "but the minister is authorizing an interim payment, which will be made within a few days."

Esquimalt Reeve Commander E. C. Wurtele commented: "This is very good news indeed. It is very much the result of Dr. Fairley's efforts, and I think the present council can take a little credit too."

He said "I have always had a good reception from federal officials, particularly (Minister of National Defence) Mr. Campney."

STAR OF MILKY WAY

Two tons better than any other cow in the Cowichan testing area is charming madame Jager Farm Hello Tar Baby Waine, four-year-old Holstein owned by J. S. Judge, Burnside Road. Tar Baby produced an heroic 18,931 pounds of milk and 636 pounds of butterfat testing 3.6 per cent during a 305-day period. She was top producer in the Cowichan Dairy Herd Improvement Association, and records kept by the dairy inspector, D. R. O'Brien, showed she was nearly two tons ahead of the next best cow in the association, a Holstein owned by Cyril Sterling of Glenora. (Times Photo.)

Victoria Teamsters Give To $1 Million Strike Fund

A $1,000,000 strike fund to cover 30,000 truck drivers in the three western provinces and 11 western states is being added to by 360 Victoria teamsters.

At a levy of 25 cents a month per man, plus strike money now covering the men, officers of International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America (AFL) in the Western Conference of Teamsters expect the fund to reach $1,000,000 by next October.

Robert Milliken, Victoria local 885 business agent, said contributions started in September and are added to regular dues check-offs.

Striking drivers would receive a total of $40 a week from the fund, an increase of $25 a week over the $15 paid by teamsters' international organization.

Fourteen locals of the union, half of them in Vancouver, are spread over B.C., Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Idea of the fund arose from a strike of long-haul truck drivers in the U.S. part of the conference early last summer. It was decided $15 a week was too little to sustain drivers adequately while on strike.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Was it in 1948 that the old streetcar tracks were removed from the streets of this city. If possible, will you please quote the contract price for the complete job and the name of the contractor? K. H. H.

A.—The work was chiefly done in 1948. Fancher and Fancher, a California firm with headquarters at Pasadena doing the lifting. The cost of that work, at $111,638 was well under the original estimate. The contract payments for the removal and for additional work which followed in putting the streets in condition, cementing and other tasks, totalled $157,577. These facts are on record in the city engineer's office which kindly looked them up for this column.

Mandarin Oranges Are Here!
Is Christmas Far Behind?

By PENNY SAVER

It must be Christmas! Or at least very close to it, 'cause Mandarin oranges have arrived in town. In all their juicy and sweet goodness, they're selling at two pounds for 39 cents right now. They'll go down soon.

When we have pudding in our house, quite often it's cause that cake didn't turn out just the way I wanted it too. But, (I'm giving away secrets), it's a wonder what a pudding mix or a hot sauce can do to an otherwise uninspiring cake. For a real change from this procedure, though, here's a puddin' mix that's meant to be as it is, not just a cover-up. For 39 cents, you can buy the mix that will serve from four to six people. A delicious cake, with appetizing sauce, and it's actually supposed to be that way!

On the local vegetable scene, you'll find cabbage at 10 cents a pound, and bulk carrots, two pounds for a quarter. A package of celery hearts costs 29 cents, and spinach, 25 cents. California leeks are two bunches for 25 cents, while Swiss chard is 20 cents a pound. Stalks of celery will cost you 20 or 25 cents depending on the size, and two bunches of California green onions are 23 cents. Water cress is 10 cents a bunch, and local sprouts are 22 cents a pound. Green beans are fresh and locally grown, and are 25 cents a pound. Artichokes, which take a bit of patience and endurance to eat, but are worthwhile, are 27 cents each. Egg plant, a vegetable with many possibilities for regular meals or entertaining, will cost you 38 cents a pound.

Broccoli, which always tastes so good with a well-rounded meal, is 25 cents a pound, and cauliflower costs 35 cents a head. Parsnips are two pounds for 29 cents, and turnips are three pounds for a quarter. Lettuce is a quarter a head, and large avocados, newly arrived, are 25 cents each. Locally grown dessert tomatoes are 20 cents a pound, and larger hot-house tomatoes are 29 cents.

Apples, all kinds and sizes are in a great supply right now, too. Kings are two pounds for 25 cents; local eating and cooking apples are three pounds for a quarter; red Spartans are five for 25 cents, as are the Delicious and McIntosh reds.

Concert Night—Mrs. Freeman King, president of the Orange Social Club, welcomed members and friends of Loyal Orange Lodge, Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association and the Loyal True Blue Association at a concert and card party held Wednesday evening in the Orange Hall. Chairman of evening was R. Stewart and the program included J. Treleavan, auto harp and harmonica; Mrs. M. Perry, songs and recitations; Terry McBratney, songs; Miss Betty Davies, violin selections; Mrs. M. Perry and R. Crewe, instrumental duets. Mrs. Perry, with R. McFerran, R. Stanfield, Rev. T. H. McAllister and R. Crewe, provided orchestral music; Mrs. McAllister was program convener and Mrs. R. Duplain in charge of cards. Refreshments were served.

Takes Theme
Of Yuletide

"Christmas Cards" was the seasonal table topic, given by Mrs. D. Misner at a meeting of Arbutus Toastmistress Club. Mrs. M. D. Darling presided, and Mrs. C. W. McCarthy gave the inspiration. An introductory ceremony for Mrs. C. W. Lundy was conducted by Miss Florence Scovill, assisted by Mrs. Darling. Mrs. H. S. Ker, toastmistress, proposed a toast to "Safe-Driving Day". The program included an introductory speech by Mrs. Lundy; Mrs. J. R. Pipes, "The Land of the Buffalo"; Miss Muriel McKeown, "Oberammergau"; lessons by Mrs. Darling, "The Art of Reading", and "Parliamentary Procedure", by Mrs. C. M. Mair. Impromptu speeches were given by Mrs. T. G. Sewell, Mrs. T. Ackerman and Mrs. Mair. Miss Dora Ponsford gave the vote of thanks.

Critics were Mrs. A. W. Perry, Mrs. J. S. Petterson and Mrs. E. J. Aldred; timer, Miss Dorothy Broadfoot; lexicologist, Mrs. J. G. Patterson.

Miss Scovill as evaluator presented the Spur to Miss McKeown and the Oscar to Mrs. Pipes.

New Linens
In Dormitory

At meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the YMCA, a sum of $250 was voted to Mrs. D. McAdie, convener of the house committee, to be used for linen supplies and furnishings in the dormitory room. Mrs. F. S. Appleton presided. Mrs. C. C. Annett, Mrs. W. Davidson and Mrs. Walter Walker were named a nominating committee to report at the annual meeting in January. A rummage sale, convener by Mrs. William F. Munro, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Finlayson, followed the meeting and netted $125.

TODAY'S RECIPE

MINCEMEAT CAKES

Two cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter, ½ cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup mincemeat, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup buttermilk.

Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together thoroughly. Add eggs, one at a time, beating until fluffy after each addition. Add mincemeat and vanilla, then add flour mixture alternately with the milk. Fill greased cupcake pans two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 20 minutes.

Partially fill base of double boiler with water; cover; bring to boil. In double boiler (do not place it over water), combine all ingredients but vanilla. Beat with egg beater one minute, or until well blended. Then set in place over rapidly boiling water.

Beat mixture constantly with egg beater at full speed, while cooking for seven minutes, or until it hangs in stiff peaks on beater when it is withdrawn. Frequently scrape insides and bottom of double boiler with rubber bowl scraper or spatula.

Remove double boiler top from boiling water; add vanilla; beat until thick enough to spread—about one to two minutes. Don't scrape pan too closely—frosting may sugar. Decorate tops of frosted cakes with a pastry tube or with bits of maraschino cherries, crushed candy mints, gum drops, coconut dipped in red or green vegetable coloring, etc.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Tubby Hubbies Often in Too Much of a Hurry to Reduce

Men are apt to be extremists in exercise and diet. Either they pay no attention to their health or they suddenly go in for strenuous calisthenics, or take up golf and play far too many holes at one time. This may be downright dangerous for them.

Exercise is all to the good in promoting health and in delaying deterioration but the kind and amount should depend on individual physical condition and habits of exercise in the past. It is mad to tackle exercise without caution. You should begin slowly and build up gradually. You should also have a physical check-up first.

The same thing is true of masculine dieting. Many men have thought, "I will get around to losing this paunch soon" and then have done nothing about it for years. However, once a man makes up his mind he is likely to expect to lose in a few days what it has taken him years to accumulate. He may either starve himself or eat most unscientifically.

If you men or your wives have been reading some of the facts I have been giving you this week about the serious danger of overweight you may have decided to lose your extra pounds. If so, let me give you a few suggestions which will help.

1. Do not skip a meal. This seldom works. It leads to fatigue and to overeating at the other two meals.

2. Watch out for lunches. You can sabotage your entire reducing diet if you break over at lunch. On my Tubby Hubby diet I have tried to plan lunches which will be obtainable at practically any restaurant.

3. Do not break over at any time. Small deviations count up to a staggering total.

4. On a short reducing diet there simply is no room for alcoholic beverages.

If a man has only a few pounds to lose he can do so quickly. The short, rapid reducing diet also gives an encouraging start to the man who must lose many pounds.

If you would like to have my Tubby Hubby diet which gives

MARKET SUMMARIES

Oils Improve At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials softened slightly in mid-afternoon stock exchange dealings today.

Mining and western oil issues recorded fractional index gains, but on average there were more losses than advances.

Refining oils improved in selective dealings. Papers turned mixed as a few narrow declines were marked up while the remainder of the industrial list remained mixed or weaker.

Gains of $1.50 were posted by Winnipeg and Central Gas at 14 and Southern Gas at 47 1/2.

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices continued a shade on the downside in the stock market late this afternoon.

General Motors, Anaconda, Union Pacific and General Electric were among fractional losers. Chemicals and drugs showed a good assortment of advances.

Canadian stocks were mixed. Dome Mines gained 1/2, Canadian Pacific advanced 1/2, McIntyre dropped 1/2 and International Nickel eased 1/2.

LONDON (Reuters)—The stock market ended the week on a cheerful note today with sentiment continuing to be influenced by news of booming industrial production and a continued flow of good company statements.

However, the credit squeeze still dominated gilt and business was restricted.

Leading industrials continued in demand and many useful gains were established.

Stock closings: Babcock and Wilcox 78 1/2, Canadian Pacific 50, General Electric 63 1/2, Hudson's Bay Co. 17 1/2, Imperial Chemicals 48 1/2, Imperial Tobacco 68 1/2, Metal Box 55 1/2, Mexican Eagle 23 1/2, Rand Mines 7 1/2, Rolls-Royce 112 1/2, 1 1/2.

St. Lawrence Seaway Workings Stand at 15 Per Cent of Total

OTTAWA (BUP)—Work completed on the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority project to Nov. 25 stands at about 15 per cent of the $50,000,000 total contracts awarded to 22 firms. Authority president Lionel Chevrier said today.

Chevrier, reviewing the seaway's progress, said that 10 dredges working in Lakes St. Louis and St. Francis all this summer and fall had stopped work where they had been deepening the future channel to 27 feet.

Coffer-damming in the La Prairie basin, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River, near Montreal, will be restricted because of the usual winter ice jam and rise of the water levels.

Freezing pumps also are suspending operations on excavation sites not clear of water.

"Most of this work goes on, however, as winter conditions present no serious problems in the heavy earth cuts at Iroquois and Cote Ste. Catherine," Chevrier said. "Rock excavation of the overland channel at Cote Ste. Catherine and in the area between Jacques Cartier and Victoria Bridges proceeds as usual."

Chevrier said construction of foundations for the future St. Lawrence Seaway authority headquarters building at Cornwall was continuing. He said "enlargements to piers of the Jacques Cartier bridge is being carried on, engineering surveys continue, lock models are studied, specifications are prepared, future contracts are advertised and awarded."

Discussions with the authority's U.S. counterpart, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, were carried on throughout the year. The two groups will meet early this month in Washington for further talks.

Aluminium lost 1 1/2 points and St. Lawrence Corporation moved off a point.

FORD CO. WILL BUILD NEW DEPOT OUT WEST

EDMONTON (BUP)—A $1,000,000 parts and accessories depot will be built at Edmonton by the Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited, it was announced today.

President Rhys M. Sale said the depot would be ready for occupancy in a year. It will be built of brick and have 74,000 square feet of floor space. It will be built on 10 acres of land on 111th Avenue, east of 149th Street.

The new depot will distribute parts and accessories to Ford dealers and customers throughout Alberta.

Cheaper Air Travel Sought By Pacific Western Lines

VANCOUVER (CP)—An end to the "monopoly" of Trans-Canada Air Lines and lower air travel rates to the public were called for Wednesday in a brief presented to the Gordon economic commission.

Russ Baker, president of Pacific Western Airlines, said in the brief his plan was to bring air travel to low income families and small businesses.

"The TCA monopoly on Canadian mainline routes has set Canada 10 years behind the United States and some European countries in the field of low cost air transportation," said the brief.

SKIMS CREAM

"TCA has in reality only skimmed the cream off the traffic potential by handling first class traffic."

Dependable winter comfort at surprisingly low cost!

"I never realized that the Consul was so roomy"

BY KEITH A. BRYAN

"Xmas Hint for Husbands"

I hear that there are going to be quite a few happy wives this Christmas... for they're going to be given one of Ford's smart, modern British-built cars! And what a wonderful present an Anglia, Prefect, Consul or Zephyr 6 would make for your wife. She'd be able to shop in real comfort! And these are the kind of cars women enjoy driving... they start easily on cold mornings, and handle easily even on slippery winter roads.

Fine "family" Cars

As a car for the whole family, Ford's British-built models have many advantages. They're far roomier inside than you could possibly imagine by just seeing one parked on the street... and they have a big, easy-to-get-at trunk for luggage. They're a breeze to drive, with standard gear shift... and a light, easy feel to the steering. And remember, Ford's British-built cars are serviced by Ford of Canada Dealers, coast to coast.

Power plus economy!

Unless you've driven one of these modern cars recently, you can't realize just how peppy they are! So call in at your local dealer's and take a drive. And ask him about his small down-payment and low monthly terms. You'll be amazed how little it costs to own one of these cars... and, take it from me, they're really thrifty to run!

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of THE AMERICAN PEOPLES ENCYCLOPEDIA to Karen Freed, aged 11, of Los Angeles, California for her question:

WHAT MAKES BLOOD RED?

A drop of blood is a most beautiful red-red color. You can forget a scratch just long enough to admire it. Through the skin, some blood vessels look blue. These are the veins carrying blood back to the heart and lungs. Yet if you cut a vein, the blood that oozes out is not blue or purple. It is also red. Blood is reddest when it leaves the heart. It is somewhat darker as it returns. The veins look blue as seen through the skin. But all our blood is red, red, red.

Blood is a watery fluid teeming with tiny passengers. The passengers are little cells called corpuscles. You need a microscope to see them singly. Most of them are red-red and a few are whitish. There are also even smaller passengers called platelets. The little platelets do their job when blood flows through a scratch or cut. They seal up the wound by wadding the blood into a clot.

By far the greatest number of passengers in the flowing blood are red cells. Under the microscope they show up like little round flat bags. It would take you ages to count the number of red cells in one drop of blood. For there are 300,000,000 of them in each drop of healthy blood. An adult has about five and a half quarts of blood forever flowing through his body. The red color of blood comes from the trillions and trillions of tiny red corpuscles.

Each little red bag is filled with a stuff called hemoglobin—magic brew of iron and protein. The red pigment is in the special form of iron. Oxygen brightens the hemoglobin. This is why blood is reddest when it leaves the heart. It is then loaded with fresh oxygen snatched from the spongy lungs. It darkens somewhat as it exchanges its oxygen for waste carbon dioxide. That is why the blood in the veins is darker.

Each little red cell lives a life of its own. It works day and night toting supplies and removing waste throughout the body. It begins its life in the marrow of the bones, where it is manufactured. It enters the blood stream full grown and lives its circulating life for about 127 days. When it is worn out, the body disposes of it.

The worn-out red cell goes to the spleen, where it is broken up. The pieces are sent to the liver. The liver scraps the coloring matter by sending it into the intestines. But it saves the precious iron. This it sends back to the bone marrow. These busy factories reuse the iron to manufacture new red cells.

Every day a certain number of old red cells are scrapped. Every day a certain number of new red cells are ready for launching. The body takes care of all this wonderful work for itself. All we have to do is to eat and enjoy plenty of the right kind of foods. Salads, vegetables—especially green vegetables—provide the stuff necessary to make those bright little bags of hemoglobin which keep the blood red.

VANCOUVER — Three Roman Catholic schools in Maillardville have been taken over by the municipality of Coquitlam for non-payment of taxes.

The action was announced at Coquitlam council meeting.

It is the latest in a lengthy series of conflicts between municipality and church over parochial school grants.

The Catholic school board still may "redeem" the schools if it pays taxes by September 30, 1956, Reeve L. J. Christmas said.

Dividends, 'Direct and Indirect', Promised in 'Future' by Bennett Social Credit participation dividends found some support from Premier W. A. C. Bennett Thursday.

The premier was asked to comment on a resolution approved unanimously by the Alberta Social Credit League, calling for payment of individual participation dividends from any government surpluses arising from taxation of natural resources.

"Social Crediters... believe in increasing the purchasing power of our people in the best way possible," said the premier. "Great will be the dividends our people will receive both directly and indirectly in the future."

Martinez Scores Kayo

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Classy Vince Martinez, the No. 4 contender for Carmen Basilio's welterweight title, knocked out Ernie Greer of Oakland, Calif., in 2:14 of the third round Thursday night.

Martinez, the Paterson, N.J., puncher who was fighting for the second time in eight days, weighed 149½ in scoring his 19th straight victory.

Martinez was shown an Associated Press story before the fight which quoted Basilio as saying "Martinez talks too much, let him fight someone good and prove himself. He's been fighting stiff, I can't stand him the way he talks."

Martinez grinned at the comment and said he expects to be fighting Basilio soon.

National Orchestra For Youth Suggested

... emphasis on youth

TORONTO (CP)—Walter Susskind, the Toronto Symphony Orchestra's conductor-to-be, Wednesday suggested a national youth orchestra as a way of making young Canadians music-minded.

He told the TSO women's committee his slogan will be "music for young people and young people for music." He intended concentrating on youngsters because they derive important benefits from a musical atmosphere—not merely because they would comprise audiences of the future.

Music, he said, should be taught in the school. Professional musicians would be happy to co-operate by giving instruction and lectures.

The National Youth Orchestra of Great Britain would be a good model for a similar group in Canada.

Mr. Susskind, who studied in Prague and Britain, takes over as TSO conductor next September, succeeding Sir Ernest MacMillan who is retiring after 25 years with the orchestra.

CBC Commentator John Fisher Gets Tourist Industry Job

OTTAWA (CP)—John Fisher, 42-year-old broadcaster and lecturer, has been appointed executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association, it was announced today.

Mr. Fisher, born in Sackville, N.B., has resigned from the CBC staff but will continue his Friday night network program, "John Fisher Reports."

Mr. Leveille said the CTA, founded in 1931 with headquarters in Toronto, is a national non-profit organization, serving as a clearing house for information and proposals on Canada's travel industry. Its 300 members represent hotels, transportation companies and tourist operators.

Better See the New '56 MOTOROLA TV

We invite you to see a totally new kind of TV—Eye-Conditioned from the inside out, for hour after hour of comfortable viewing. There's a new, stronger Power Panel Chassis for brighter pictures, extra power and longer trouble-free performance. Special Accura-shade circuitry provides perfect shading from deep black to brilliant white, for a deeper, more natural picture.

Research in exacting color TV has brought many electronic improvements, many of which are now incorporated in the new 1956 Black and White TV lines.

Choose your set from these superb new styles—notice the fine new finishes available in these smart Consoles or Table Models.

No stooping or stretching... no fumbling with hard-to-see side controls... no dials sticking up on top. Just reach out—all controls are within natural reach from easy stand-up position. You can see the picture as you change channels. New Push-Button Turn-On on many models. Just push a button and you sit down. You'll get both picture and sound exactly as they were last time set was used.

Deputy Minister to Investigate Housing Conditions at Kitimat

Deputy municipal affairs minister J. Everett Brown will fly to Kitimat later this month to conduct an "informal inquiry" into housing conditions.

An inquiry has been sought by Frank Howard, CCF MLA for Skeena, and by labor organizations which claim the Aluminum Co. is charging its workers "exorbitant" prices for housing. A public meeting is scheduled for Dec. 20. Mr. Brown said he expects to return to Victoria the following day.

"I hope to be able to find out what the trouble is, and help clear up any misunderstandings," he said. The houses sell for $14,000. Alcan and the housing contractor claim the houses are built of good-quality materials to minimum government standards, and priced so the worker, with company housing bonuses, gets a good deal.

Mr. Howard has charged the houses are below standard.

Complex Problems Mark B.C. Growth

Economic Commission Hears Full List Of Thorny Questions Facing Province

By HAROLD MORRISON

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cocksure and bold, western Canada is on the march, certain it is moving into a quarter-century of tremendous economic expansion.

But the big economic upsurge, forecast by all provinces, is causing an undercurrent of worry, particularly among the cities and towns, the ones which will have to shoulder the burden of providing new roads, schools, sewers, water mains, hospitals and other institutions to keep up with the expansion.

How are they to raise the hundreds of millions of dollars that will be required?

That, perhaps, is one of the key problems facing the Gordon economic commission as it ends its three weeks of western hearings today. It will be reconvened for sittings in central Canada next January, in Quebec City, Montreal, Toronto, and Ottawa before the five members sit down to write their forecast of Canada's economic prospects for the next 25 years.

In each of the western cities it visited—Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton, Calgary, Victoria and Vancouver—the commission heard the familiar story. The future will bring expansion and new heavy financial burdens to the municipalities. Most looked to the federal government for help.

Chairman Walter Gordon of Toronto raised the point Thursday of whether it would be a good practice for Canada to make municipal bonds tax-free as in the United States, to attract a bigger market for municipal borrowings.

But investment broker Alan Williamson, vice-president of Wood, Gundy & Co. Ltd., was opposed. While agreeing that the municipalities need help he did not like the idea of making any particular section tax-free. Some municipalities favor revival of the 1938 Federal Municipal Assistance Act, under which the federal government made loans to municipalities and these were guaranteed by the provinces.

Another suggestion, that of the 'Vancouver' and District Trades and Labor Council TLC-AFL, is that the government reduce taxes and maintain spending, financing its deficits by increasing the national debt. This would tend to increase the amount of money available for expansion. But the fear among some experts is that it may also cause inflation.

ASKED TO RELAX CURBS

Undoubtedly a suggestion that the commission will not overlook is the one by Mr. Williamson proposing a relaxation on insurance company investment curbs. These companies, with huge assets, are allowed to have only 3 per cent of their holdings in investments that are not of such strictly gilt-edge nature as government bonds.

"Relative to Canada's rapidly expanding economy and accelerated pace of technological progress, the 3 per cent basket may be inadequate, particularly as such a large proportion of the public's funds are channelled into investment through insurance companies," Mr. Williamson said.

"The trustee acts in some provinces should be revised and modernized so that the immense sums subject to the acts could be better invested and at the same time invested in a manner most helpful to the nation's development."

Investment and the needs of capital for expansion pose multiple problems for the commission, for suggestions have been made that too large a part of some Canadian developments is in the hands of U.S. investors. Canadians, it has been said, should be able to play a bigger part in the development of their own country.

Tranquilizing Drugs Big Help to Oldsters

By FRANK CAREY

BOSTON (AP)—Use of a new drug combination which might keep many oldsters from going to mental institutions was described today to the American Medical Association.

Two Michigan scientists said in a prepared paper that experiments with the drugs among senile patients in hospitals indicate that control can often be achieved "at home" by family doctors for behavior problems ordinarily requiring hospital treatment for such people.

Researchers John T. Ferguson and William H. Funderburk of Traverse City State Hospital said their objective was to eliminate "abnormal behavior"—such as destructiveness of clothing or furniture, or faulty habits of personal appearance—which predominated in some cases regardless of the mental diagnosis. The drugs used were reserpine, a "tranquilizing" substance, and methyl-phenidylacetate, which acts as a stimulant of the central nervous system.

BACKED BY SURVEY

The idea was to produce "active tranquillity" in the patients, the doctors said, declaring that doses of the respective drugs were designed to take care of both "over-activity" and "under-activity."

Describing studies among 215 female mental patients, the doctors said that in the large majority there was "marked improvement in the ability to cooperate and a new interest in their outlook on life and themselves."

For example, the staff beauty-shop operator was "swamped" with work following the drug treatments, and appointments for dental treatments rose sharply.

The doctors declared that on the basis of their research among hospital patients, this conclusion is justified:

"The general practitioner can effectively use the drug combination . . . in managing geriatric problems at home. Thus may the socio-economic problems of hospitalization be avoided and the family circle remain intact."

Nelson Club Seeks More Fan Support

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—A $3,000 deficit has prompted the executive of the Nelson Maple Leafs to consider the possibility of withdrawing from the Western International Hockey League.

Club executives, meeting Wednesday, said the Leafs would be withdrawn from the WHL before Dec. 15 unless attendance picks up considerably before then.

Average attendance at the first eight home games has been 1,188, compared with 1,680 last season. An increase of 250 fans at the remaining games this season would be necessary to solve the Leafs' financial troubles.

Vancouver General Workers Deadlocked

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver General Hospital and 1,500 members of the Hospital Employees' Federal Union (TLC) Thursday reached a deadlock in wage negotiations.

Union officials said they were going to ask for compulsory arbitration.

The union is seeking a five-cent hourly raise, health plan and other fringe benefits.

Meanwhile, the union has set up a $50,000 fund to fight against a provincial government wage freeze order, which it claims is halting pay negotiations throughout the province.

Rex Ellsworth On Buying Spree

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Rex Ellsworth, California race horse owner and breeder, spent $38,071 in about two hours Wednesday for five horses at the third day of the famous Tattersalls thoroughbred sales.

Ellsworth paid $7,056 for Exotic, 13-year-old mare believed to be in foal to Abernant.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Tony Spence Barber, 327 Sooke Road, was fined $35 or five days in jail and restricted to driving for business purposes only for two months when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a careless driving charge.

Police said the charge arose from an incident Oct. 8 when the accused was involved in a two-car accident at Johnson and Quadra.

Barber suffered head injuries and the driver of the other car sustained a broken wrist in the crash. Damage to the cars was $450.

Dr. Andrew McKellar, Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich, will speak on the subject "World Astronomers Meet" at the annual dinner next Wednesday at Victoria Centre, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

He attended the International Astronomical Union meeting in Dublin last September. Dinner will be held in Pacific Club at 6:30 p.m.

Temporary repairs estimated to last for five years were recommended for city hall and market building roofs Thursday by the city finance committee.

Last week the committee received a report from the building

'OH, WE ARE THE ENGINEERS...'

Harmonious session of B.C. Association of Professional Engineers' convention in Empress Hotel was forecast today by four leading figures in association who rehearsed barbershop songs ready for competition this evening for the "Killam Quartet Kontest Kup." Trophy, (centre), a king-sized grease cup, is awarded each year to best close harmony quartet among the engineers.

1-YEAR DRIVING LICENCE TO RETURN NEXT YEAR?

B.C. government will revert to one-year drivers licences if the current five-year plan does not prove its workability by the end of this year.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today: "If it doesn't work, obviously it will be changed." He said the easiest way of changing it would be to go back to one-year drivers licences.

Mr. Bonner said the rate of licence renewals is on the increase but there are still thousands of motorists on the road without a valid licence.

Somass Hydro Plan To Be Aired Monday

Details of a proposed large hydro-electric development for the Somass River watershed will be disclosed to Alberni Valley residents Monday by a B.C. Power Commission official.

The commission's planning has reached the stage where it will move engineering crews into the area shortly to make the expensive detailed surveys which are required before the final decision can be made on constructing the project.

Preliminary studies have been completed.

The Power Commission's intention to utilize the resources of the watershed covered by the Sproat Lake, Great Central and Elsie lakes system, including the Stamp and Sproat Rivers, was disclosed in an exclusive Times story Thursday.

MOST ADVANCED

Several other power sites on the island are also under continued study by the B.C. Power Commission. But the Somass watershed proposal is in the most advanced stages.

"We are looking at all the economical power we can get for the island," said a spokesman.

This includes power from the Homathko River and tributaries on the mainland.

However, it is considered highly unlikely mainland power will provide the immediate requirements of the rapidly expanding Vancouver Island economy.

The commission's load growth on the island is being gobbled up by new industries, and population increase, at a rate which threatens to outstrip its new developments.

The "multi-million-dollar Upper Campbell River project, and the Ladore Falls development, both underway, will not meet the demand.

Upper Campbell will be completed by about 1958, and power from its generators will be utilized virtually as soon as the generators turn over.

LOAD GROWTH UP

The load growth is accelerated by announcements of major expansion programs announced by Island pulp mills—a major user of hydro electricity.

MacMillan & Bloedel, Crown Zellerbach and B.C. Forest Products in recent months have announced multi-million-dollar pulp mill plans.

Even steam plants are considered a possibility to feed the industrial growth of the island. A commission spokesman was asked whether steam plants are being considered.

"All sources of power are being considered," he said.

Only a few power sites remain to be exploited on the island. Most are on the northern end, where long transmission hauls could make them unsound from an economic viewpoint.

Other rivers pose a serious salmon problem.

MacMillan and Bloedel is reported to be considering construction of a weir dam on Sproat Lake. A meeting of Sproat Lake ratepayers is scheduled to be held tonight to hear the company proposal.

The firm would use the dam to maintain water levels in Sproat Lake for pulp mill operations.

It would not raise the lake level, but would prevent a maximum discharge.

Power commission officials said the proposed dam would not appreciably interfere with their proposal on Sproat Lake.

They said an old dam already exists at the site.

$75 Million Construction For BCE in '56

A record-smashing construction budget of $75,000,000 in 1956 was announced by president Dal Grauer of the B.C. Electric today.

"British Columbia, which has grown faster than any other province in Canada for the past decade, stands on the threshold of even greater expansion in the years immediately ahead," the BCE president said.

The company is backing this forecast, said Mr. Grauer, with a capital program almost twice as large as the one now nearing completion, by far the largest for any single year in BCE history.

Here are the details of the BCE construction program for 1956:

Generation of electricity, $15,000,000; construction and enlargement of substations, Mainland, $10,500,000; transmission plant, including land, Mainland, $10,900,000; distribution and other electrical plant, Mainland, $4,600,000; Vancouver Island interconnection, $5,100,000; generation, transmission, substations and distribution, Vancouver Island, $1,800,000; electric line and service extensions, Mainland and Vancouver Island, $8,400,000; urban transportation, Greater Vancouver, New Westminster and Greater Victoria, $500,000; railway system, $1,800,000; new office building, Vancouver, $4,400,000; other joint service facilities, $1,100,000; Greater Vancouver natural gas program, $9,000,000; total, $75,000,000.

Garbage Fill Urged on City

New Disposal System Backed By Public Works Committee

A temporary program of land-fill garbage disposal in the Topaz Park-Baker Brickyard area—as a forerunner of a complete new garbage disposal system—was recommended today by city council public works committee.

If approved by city council, the project will start in six months.

"Public meetings will be held in the area to explain the program to nearby residents who last year blocked a similar plan with strenuous protests.

It is hoped that adoption of the land-fill system will save the city $12,000 a year over existing costs and finance the new garbage disposal system without increasing the costs to the taxpayers.

The new plant would be located near the city works plant at Garbally yard.

EXPERIMENTAL

The land-fill system, if approved, would operate for six months on an experimental basis. If for any reason it is not acceptable, then the city will be faced with immediate construction of a new garbage wharf and a renewed program of sea dumping or contracting land-fill to Up-Island points.

The committee decision was reached following receipt of a lengthy report from J. C. Garnett, acting city engineer.

He pointed out that the present wharf is in need of extensive repairs and that an expenditure of $43,200 would only make it suitable for another five years' usage.

At the present time, the garbage wharf is inadequate to handle all trucks wishing to discharge garbage there, he stated. He added that 40 per cent of the timbers are in need of replacement.

Its location at present, at the foot of Swift street, provides a breeding place for flies, a smoke and fire nuisance and allows garbage dispersal over the city by seagulls, he said.

ALL MEANS

He reviewed all possible means of disposal—open dumps.

Flies American Flag In Communist Sector; Pledges 'West Stays'

(UP and AP Dispatches)

BERLIN—U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant drove defiantly into East Berlin flying the American flag from his car today shortly after he had pledged the Western powers "will remain in Berlin" until Germany is reunified.

Conant afterwards said his tour was designed to give East Berliners "proof of the continuing interest of the United States government in the welfare of this brave and important city."

After his drive, Conant held a news conference in which he reaffirmed the West's determination to protect Berlin.

He repeated his statement that the West will hold the Soviets responsible for maintaining the present four-power system in their sector despite East German defiance of occupation regulations.

Conant said the United States, Britain and France are dedicated to preserving Berlin's four-power status until Germany is reunified.

TO INSIST ON RIGHTS

The West would continue to insist on the free circulation of not only Allied personnel in the four sectors of Berlin, but also of the German population, he said.

The East German Communists earlier today declared the four-power occupation status of Berlin now is non-existent.

It was the first time in the current controversy that either the Russians or their East German satellites have used the term "four-power." The Communists have confined themselves hitherto to saying that East Berlin is no longer occupied territory but is the "sovereign" capital of East Germany.

The dispute began with Russian rejection of Western protests about the detention at pistol-point of two visiting congressmen by Communist authorities for four hours in East Berlin Sunday. The Russians decline to accept responsibility for the incident, insisting that the East Germans controlled East Berlin.

BONN (Reuters)—The West German Bundestag (lower house) today voted its approval of government foreign policy.

By a show of hands it accepted a resolution calling on the government to "make every effort to bring about the reunification of Germany in collaboration with the governments of France, Britain and the United States."

PROFESSORS ARE REALLY ABSENT-MINDED

VANCOUVER (CP) — A half-dozen faculty members of the University of British Columbia had to stand in the rain outside the faculty club Thursday night. They had gathered to hear an address on atoms for peace by Dr. J. W. T. Spinks of the University of Saskatchewan.

The speech was delayed 20 minutes. None of the professors had remembered to bring a key.

Khrushchev Lashes Out at West For 'Stupidity', Colonialism

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — From a seat in one of the Buddhist world's most venerated shrines, Russia's Nikita Khrushchev today launched a bitter, impromptu tirade against the "stupidity" of the Western powers.

Red-faced with anger and pointing his finger wildly, the Soviet Communist party chief accused the United States and France of attempting to kidnap a Russian visitor. He also had some derisive words for Britain.

Khrushchev spoke out as he rested in the 2,000-year-old Shwe Dagon (Golden Pagoda), after climbing nearly 200 steps to the heart of the famous temple. He and Soviet Premier Bulganin were touring Rangoon shrines on the second day of their week's visit to Burma.

Chatting with Maung Ohn, Burmese ambassador to Russia, and accompanying foreign correspondents, Khrushchev admired the temple's wood carvings, then lashed out:

"England (which granted Burma independence in 1948) did not exist before William the Conqueror.

"Your temples are 2,000 years old and theirs only 1,000 years — yet they call you savages and barbarians.

"How difficult history is to change—because there are some people who refuse to change it."

"STUPID AMERICA"

Next came a discussion of architecture—and of the case of Russian architect Alexander Vlasov, whose work was censured by the Soviet government while he was touring the U.S. and France with other Russian architects.

"Be careful or you might be invited to America," Khrushchev told a Russian architect named Andriev, who is here to help Burma build a national stadium.

"There are some very stupid people in America," Khrushchev continued. "After we criticized comrade Vlasov, they tried to persuade him to stay. The French also repeated this stupid mistake the Americans had made.

Actually, there was no reported effort by Americans to persuade Vlasov to remain with them. In Paris, a band of Russian exiles tried to "liberate" him, but the Russian party went to a French police station to escape the crowd and Vlasov subsequently accused the French police of trying to "kidnap" him. The French security police said they were only trying to find out whether the architect wanted asylum.

After we criticized comrade Vlasov, they tried to persuade him to stay. The French also repeated this stupid mistake the Americans had made.

Eden Calls Cabinet Chiefs on Cyprus

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden today called senior cabinet ministers and defence chiefs into special conference on a new turn in the Cyprus crisis.

The meeting was held amid reports that leaders of the Mediterranean Island's Greek-speaking majority, backed by the Greek government itself, have rejected a secret British compromise plan.

Diplomatic informants said the plan was intended to meet Cypriot and Greek demands that Cypriots be allowed to decide their own political future.

Esk 'Heroes' Charged With Assault

HAMILTON (CP)—Two members of the Grey Cup champion Edmonton Eskimos were arrested today and charged with common assault on the eve of the East-West all-star Shrine game in Toronto tomorrow.

Oakalla Guard Fired,
Gun Turrets Erected

A guard has been fired and three new gun turrets have been built at Oakalla prison farm following an investigation into the recent escape of four prisoners.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the investigation showed the escape was considered "entirely attributable to the unexpected reaction of an unnamed guard to threats by prisoners."

"The guard is no longer in the general satisfaction with respect to practices at the prison."

U.S. in Berlin
Defy Reds As Crisis Mounts

BERLIN — U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant drove defiantly into East Berlin flying the American flag from his car shortly after he had pledged the Western powers "will remain in Berlin" until Germany is reunified.

Conant afterwards said his four was designed to give East Berliners "proof of the continuing interest of the United States government in the welfare of this brave and important city."

After his drive, Conant held a news conference in which he reaffirmed the West's determination to protect Berlin.

He repeated his statement that the West will hold the Soviets responsible for maintaining the present four-power system in their sector despite East German defiance of occupation regulations.

Conant said the United States, Britain and France are dedicated to preserving Berlin's four-power status until Germany is reunified.

The West would continue to insist on the free circulation of not only Allied personnel in the four sectors of Berlin, but also of the German population, he said.

It was the first time in the current controversy that either the Russians or their East German satellites have used the term "four-power." The Communists have confined themselves hitherto to saying that East Berlin is no longer occupied territory but is the "sovereign" capital of East Germany.

'OH, WE ARE THE ENGINEERS . . .

Harmonious session of B.C. Association of Professional Engineers' convention in Empress Hotel was forecast today by four leading figures in association who rehearsed barbershop songs ready for competition this evening for the "Killam Quartet Kontest Kup." Trophy (centre), a king-sized grease cup, is awarded each year to best close harmony quartet among the engineers.

Somass Hydro Plan
To Be Aired Monday

Details of a proposed large hydro-electric development for the Somass River watershed will be disclosed to Alberni Valley residents Monday by a B.C. Power Commission official.

The commission's planning has reached the stage where it will move engineering crews into the area shortly to make the expensive detailed surveys which are required before the final decision can be made on constructing the project.

Preliminary studies have been completed.

The Power Commission's intention to utilize the resources of the watershed covered by the Sproat Lake, Great Central and Elsie lakes system, including the Stamp and Sproat Rivers, was disclosed in an exclusive Times story Thursday.

MOST ADVANCED

Several other power sites on the island are also under continued study by the B.C. Power Commission. But the Somass watershed proposal is in the most advanced stages.

"We are looking at all the economical power we can get for the island," said a spokesman.

This includes power from the Homathko River and tributaries on the mainland.

However, it is considered highly unlikely mainland power will provide the immediate requirements of the rapidly expanding Vancouver Island economy.

The commission's load growth on the island is being gobbled up by new industries, and population increase, at a rate which threatens to outstrip its new developments.

The multi-million-dollar Upper Campbell River project, and the Ladore Falls development, both underway, will not meet the demand.

LOAD GROWTH UP

The load growth is accelerated by announcements of major expansion programs announced by Island pulp mills—a major user of hydro electricity.

MacMillan & Bloedel, Crown Zellerbach and B.C. Forest Products in recent months have announced multi-million-dollar pulp mill plans.

Even steam plants are considered a possibility to feed the industrial growth of the Island.

A commission spokesman was asked whether steam plants are being considered.

"All sources of power are being considered," he said.

Only a few power sites remain to be exploited on the Island. Most are on the northern end, where long transmission hauls could make them unattractive from an economic viewpoint.

St. Laurent Orders
Full-Scale Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—The government today appointed a royal commission to study licensing and control of private radio and television broadcasting.

R. M. Fowler of Montreal, president of the Pulp and Paper Association of Canada, was named chairman. Edmund Turcotte, Canadian ambassador to Columbia, and James Stewart, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, were appointed members.

The commission was empowered to study and make recommendations on the licensing and control of private radio and television broadcasting; the financing and broadcasting policies of the CBC; and any other subject the commission may decide.

The commission is expected to start work early in the new year.

FOWLER IS CHAIRMAN

Mr. Fowler, commission chairman, will be 49 Dec. 7, and has been president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association since 1945. A distinguished lawyer, he graduated in law from Osgoode Hall, Toronto, in 1931.

A highlight of his legal career was his association from 1937 to 1939 with the Rowell-Sirois commission on federal-provincial relations, first as legal secretary to Chief Justice N. W. Rowell, commission chairman, and later as one of the secretaries who prepared the commission's report.

TERMS OUTLINED

The order-in-council outlining terms of reference said the commission was appointed "to examine and make recommendations upon:

"1. The policies to be followed by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, in its television broadcasting activities and the relation of such policies to the finances of the corporation;

"2. The measures necessary to provide an adequate proportion of Canadian programs for both public and private television broadcasting;

"3. The financial requirements of the corporation for television broadcasting and the relation of these to the extent, nature, standards and distribution of programs;

"4. The financial requirements of the corporation for sound broadcasting in the light of the development of television and the growth of population in new areas in Canada;

"5. The manner in which the finances for the television and sound broadcasting operations of the corporation should be provided and managed;

"6. The licensing and control of private television and sound broadcasting stations in the public interest; and

"7. Such other related matters as the commissioners might consider should be included in reporting properly upon those specified."
